Sommers Case 'Gag' Stirs House Storm

SHE'LL BE 100 ON SATURDAY

One candle for her first century will be blown out Saturday by Mrs. Margaret Bishop, hale and hearty Scot, who lives here with daughter, 1250 Pandora. She's received congratulations from Prime Minister, Mayor; attributes oatmeal, milk, work, for long life. She has three great-grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren.

Design Completed For Tallest Totem

The complete design for the world's tallest totem pole, drawn to scale, will be published in the Times next week. The design, conceived by Mungo Martin, was sketched out in a special drawing by his son David, and is now going through engraving processes for publication.

Reduced to two inches in diameter, the sketch plan is nearly 70 inches long, giving an idea of the pole's height. Readers will have to guess how the "Times," which has pages 22 inches deep, will be able to reproduce it.

After it has appeared in the paper, it is planned to have an essay contest for school children on the subject "What I think the totem pole means."

Another totem contest—for amateur pictures of the big pole lifted over the causeway last Saturday—will close next Wednesday. A number of prints have already been submitted and the winner will be published. Prize for the best photo is 10 shares in the totem. Entries should be sent to "Totem Picture," care of the Times Editorial Department.

Nearly 20 feet at the bottom of the totem have now been roughed out by the carvers. A picture of the carving progress appears on page 11.

CCF Leader Touches Off Heated Debate

Tempers flared in the Legislature Thursday as CCF and Liberal M.L.A.'s fought to a standstill a ruling by Speaker Tom Irwin which would block discussion of the Sturdy case.

CCF leader Arnold Webster touched off a half-hour wrangle at the start of the day's sitting, with a soberly-worded statement in which he asked Attorney General Robert Bonner to tell the house his position in the case.

The furore stems back to Dec. 15, when a young Vancouver lawyer, David Sturdy, appeared before the Sloan Royal Commission on Forestry seeking permission to lay before the commission "a certain body of evidence," he said might indicate lands and forests minister R. E. Somers had taken "private consideration," in the issuing of forest management licences.

A few days later, Mr. Somers, through counsel, issued a writ in Supreme Court registry at Vancouver, seeking damages against Sturdy for alleged libel and slander.

The case has not yet been heard.

Because the suit is before the courts, no public statements had been made concerning it until the leader of the opposition raised it in his speech Thursday.

Here is the text of his statement:

"Mr. Speaker, I wish to refer to a subject that must be on the conscience of every member of this house. The Hon. Attorney General is the chief law enforcement officer of the province. "In this capacity he must be concerned not only with the maintenance of law and order throughout the country, but also with the integrity of members of the government in this legislature."

"We have a right to know that statutory declarations presented to the Hon. Attorney General in good faith by citizens of this province are dealt with expeditiously and without fear or favor."

"I suggest that at the first opportunity of this session he should tell us what action he took, if any, in a case which I do not presume to judge but in which someone appears to be guilty either of perjury or bribery."

GRAVE MATTER

"This is a very grave matter that involves the good name of every member of this House."

"I refer to a statutory declaration which, according to the Vancouver Herald of Dec. 17, 1955, was placed before the Hon. Attorney General on Dec. 7, 1955, by David Sturdy, Esq., on behalf of a client."

"Now, Mr. Speaker, I shall make no attempt to discuss the details of this case, nor to involve the minister of lands and forests. That case is sub judice. But the Hon. Attorney General has a duty to explain his position in the matter to this house."

Attorney General Bonner leaped to his feet at the end of Mr. Webster's statement.

"The honorable leader of the Opposition cares to have my statement now I will give one," he declared.

Mr. Webster, following advice hurried at him from several CCF

WON $12,000 HOUSE, CAR

Big Bingo Winner Charged as Cheat

EDMONTON (CP)—A 25-year-old man appeared in court today on a charge of cheating at a service club bingo which offered $16,000 in prizes.

Frank Pasek, declared winner of a $12,000 house and lot offered as main prize, was arrested Thursday night less than 24 hours after the game. He was remanded without plea until Jan. 25. Bail was set at $500.

The bingo game, one of the biggest held here, attracted about 6,400 persons who paid $5 admission. About 5,000 extra cards were sold for $1 each.

Police were called in by officials of the Lions Club, who sponsored the bingo.

A club statement issued today said "suspicion was aroused by a special checking system." An extra game was played in the event that investigation resulted in the winner's card being invalid or called into serious question."

B.C. FLOWER

The western dogwood will be adopted at the present session of the Legislature as British Columbia's official floral emblem. It was learned today. Action will crown years of unofficial acceptance of the ivory-petalled bloom as "B.C.'s first flower."

WIRE BRIEFS

Missing Girl Safe

TORONTO (CP)—Shirley McDougall, 10, missing since she left for school Wednesday, was found today in a downtown College Street store. Police said the girl stayed with a friend at night and wandered around the store in the daytime.

B.C. Man Drowned

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Stanley Chance, 38, of New Westminster, was drowned in the Fraser river today when he slipped from a log while working on a booming ground.

Bulgarian 'Resting'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet Premier Bulganin was officially reported today to be "resting" on a country vacation. He has not been seen in public since Jan. 3 and it was generally assumed he was ill.

Crashes in Street

WADHURST, Eng. (Reuters)—One person was killed and between 10 and 20 injured when a plane crashed in the main street of this small village today.

Establish Relations

MOSCOW (AP)—Liberia and the Soviet Union today agreed to establish diplomatic relations.

Baby Seller Jailed

NEW YORK (CP)—Mrs. Rachel Baker, 64-year-old grandmother from Montreal, today was sentenced to four months in the city workhouse on her conviction of conspiring to sell a baby to a childless couple here and to arrange for adoption of a child without being an authorized agent.

St. Laurent Bans Guns for Mid-East

OTTAWA STANDS PAT; NO MORE AID FOR PGE

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today development of the Peace River country in the last year does not justify further federal subsidies for the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The government last year offered a subsidy of $25,000 a mile for not more than 50 miles for the extension of the line northward from Prince George, B.C.

Replying to a Commons question by Bert Leboe (SC-Cariboo), he said development of the country does not justify reconsideration of the offer.

OFFICERS TESTIFY AT PROBE

'Celona Knew Before We Did'

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Two detectives told the Tupper Royal Commission today that alleged bootlegger Joe Celona had inside information on police department transfers before they were officially announced.

Testifying before the royal commission inquiry into the Vancouver police department, Detectives Ernie Deacon and Doug Grant said Celona told them what their future work would be before they knew of it themselves.

Deacon said he spoke to Celona in May, 1955, while he was on special duty. He said Celona told him he would be going back to his regular duties when the assignment was ended.

Several days later, Deacon testified, he was put back on regular duty.

Grant said that while he was in the liquor squad in March, 1949, Celona told him he was to be moved to the morality squad "on the change of shifts."

Two weeks later, Grant said, he found he had been shifted to the morality division.

FIREMAN QUIZZED

Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, Vancouver civil defence director, told Royal Commissioner R. H. Tupper he questioned a member of his staff, former assistant fire chief Elmer Sly, about lotteries at the request of ex-chief of police Walter Mulligan.

Heakes said Sly denied having any connection with lotteries, which he reported back to Mulligan. The civil defence director said he also asked Sly about his expensive house and car but that Sly said he had been "fortunate" in investments.

Four commendations which had been given to detective sergeant Len Cuthbert were revealed for the first time when police records superintendent John Fisk testified today. Fisk said he found them in the files at the police station.

Commissioner Tupper directed that another witness, Parnell Johnson, be brought to his chambers for a personal interview later today after a doctor testified the man was too ill to testify in public.

Dr. Peter Bell-Irving told the commissioner that Johnson had a heart condition and the strain and excitement of testifying might be more than his heart could stand.

On Tuesday reporter Ray Munro told Commissioner Tupper Johnson "could tell all about the lottery racket if you talk him out of the fear that he would get killed if he did."

Johnson testified in secret as "Mr. X" to the Vancouver police commission two years ago.

Poujadists Challenged

PARIS (UP)—The new national assembly meets for the second time today to consider demands for the expulsion of 12 extreme rightists elected by Pierre Poujade's UDCA party.

Leftwing radicals charged Thursday that the election of the Poujadists was illegal because the UDCA sponsored more than the two slates allowed by the constitution in the counties where they were elected.

Drew Wins Pledge No More Shipments Until House Debate

OTTAWA (BUP)—No further shipments of arms to the Middle East will be permitted by Canada until Parliament has had a chance to debate the government's arms export policy, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told the Commons today.

He gave the pledge after opposition leader George Drew attempted to open a full-dress debate on the shipment of aircraft, ammunition, and other military equipment to Egypt, Turkey, Greece and Israel.

CABINET DECISION

Mr. St. Laurent said later in reply to a question by John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert), opposition foreign affairs critic, that the question of export permits was always decided at cabinet level — "in the light of the situation . . . and the repercussions it might have with respect to peace in the world."

The opinions of Western allies, he said, were always sought and "great consideration" given them.

STATEMENT PROMISED

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said he would make a statement on behalf of the government next Monday or Tuesday about arms exports.

Acting CCF leader Angus MacInnis (Vancouver-Kingsway) supported Drew's attempt to launch the full-dress debate now. The throne speech debate, now in progress, is scheduled to continue until next Wednesday.

The flurry in Parliament arose with news that a $30,000 order for 25-pounder ammunition for Israel had been approved by the government last November, but had not yet been shipped. Three Harvard aircraft are en route from Canada to Egypt on an order for 15 approved by the government early last summer.

NATO GUNS ON WAY

Other equipment is on the high seas for Greece, Turkey, and Portugal under the mutual aid agreements of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The army announced today that military supplies and ammunition would be shipped within the next four weeks to Turkey, Belgium, The Netherlands, Portugal, Norway and Italy.

40-Game Chess Match Tickets Will Go On Sale Here Monday

Spectator tickets for a 40-board simultaneous chess exhibition match by Samuel Reshevsky in Central Junior High School auditorium Feb. 14 will go on sale Monday.

Tickets, priced at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students, may be obtained at the Victoria Times, 2631 Douglas, the downtown Times office and from Victoria Chess Club members. The Times and Victoria Chess Club are co-sponsoring Reshevsky's visit. Reshevsky is the ranking North American chess master and one of the best chess players in the world. He defeated world champion

Mikhail Botvinnik of Russia last year in a U.S.-Russia team match.

Dr. Simon Marinker, president of the chess club, reports that response to Reshevsky's impending visit has been highly enthusiastic. The chess club has been swamped by entries from players for positions at the 40 boards to oppose Reshevsky. Names of the 40 players chosen will be known next week.

A. G. Moody has been appointed director of the tournament by the club, and will officiate at the matches. Play will start at 8 p.m. and continue until 11.

Spectators and players are asked to be in the auditorium by 7.45.

TO 'LAY OFF BOOKIES'

Refused Fortune Officer Testifies

By BRUCE LEVETT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Percy Allan Hoare, hero of a 1947 gun battle in which three men died, testified here Thursday that, as a detective sergeant, he was offered $1,000 a month to "lay off certain bookies."

Testifying before the R. H. Tupper royal commission on police affairs, the former policeman—now security officer for a large public utility—said:

"I was approached with an offer of $1,000 a month to lay off certain bookies. Of course, I refused. I was just taking over the gambling squad."

He said the man making the offer was known as "Milo the Hat," and that he reported the incident to the police commission. Mr. Hoare did not elaborate.

CHINESE CASE
It was the first mention of the offer. Previously, he outlined "the Chinese case," in which a woman was charged with attempting to bribe a police officer and acquitted.

Mr. Hoare's testimony was followed by that of George Raymond Salisbury, who admitted an arrest on a lottery charge. Mr. Salisbury, who didn't say whether he was convicted, said he was engaged in a lottery "regularly from 1947 to 1949" and that he worked for a mystery man who since died.

MAKES DENIAL
He denied he ever paid protection to police.

His employer was not named, but Mr. Salisbury described him:

"He was a remarkable man. He did more for people in distress than anybody who ever lived. He had six or seven children but was always willing to take in another. He drank too much rye and he talked too much."

The testimony followed that of half a dozen other witnesses. Mr. Hoare was elevated to de-

Sea Killed 26 B.C. Fishmen Last Year

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries in Vancouver, said today that at least 26 B.C. fishermen died at sea last year.

A department of fisheries survey revealed 12 fishermen lost their lives by drowning, four died from carbon monoxide poisoning and one each from burns, a fall and an accident at sea.

One man died as a result of a collision at sea and six died of natural causes while on duty.

This is the first survey made on fishermen's mortality rates. The department believes the 1955 toll was above average.

members, refused to give the floor to Mr. Bonner because it would mean he could not continue with his speech. Premier Bennett stood then to say "I want it clearly understood the Opposition leader has refused the Attorney General the right to make a statement."

"Don't be silly," shouted a CCF member. "He has had two months to make a statement."

Webster then went on to complete his speech.

Education Minister Ray Wiliston was the next speaker, scheduled to take part in the Throne Speech debate. He raised the issue in his first sentence, and told the Speaker he would like to make the statement on the Attorney General's behalf.

Speaker Irwin entered the picture at this juncture. He said that after the statement had been read "there will be no further debate on the subject, nor any discussion of the statement."

"No!" shouted the Opposition. "Every other member of this House will be silenced," a CCF member complained.

Speaker Irwin, after a short argument with Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, asked for a challenge to his ruling.

"I so move," replied Laing.

Robert Strachan, CCF member for Cowichan—Newcastle, said the effect of the Speaker's ruling would be that "anytime you so desire, any discussion would be prevented on the actions of the attorney general."

RIGHT TO CRITICISE
"There will be nothing to stop that question from coming up before committee of the whole House. You can try it there—but I don't think you will get it by the chairman," replied Mr. Irwin.

"We have a right to criticise any minister for his actions," retorted Strachan.

"If you are going to prevent me from criticising a minister over there—there is not much hope for us on this side of the House," said Mr. Laing.

"I am not going to permit that statement (the one Mr. Wiliston was attempting to read) to become a part of a debate in this House," ruled Irwin.

"I am going to rule the matter is before the courts, and I am going to rule it out of order," he continued.

Throughout the stormy debate, hands and forests minister Sommers leaped through a number of papers. He took no part in the discussion.

Lawyer George Gregory, Liberal member for Victoria, told the house he had been retained as counsel for Sturdy in the libel and slander action started by Mr. Sommers.

"The action is merely that one person is suing another in civil court for money damages," he said. "I submit that cannot make sub judice any action of the attorney general."

VARIED RULINGS
During the debate, Speaker Irwin placed at least five different rulings, or interpretations of his ruling, before the house, adding to the confusion.

At one point, he said members could "come up to the point," reached by Mr. Webster in his statement. But he added that there could be no debate on the A-G's statement.

A few minutes later, he said "You may not criticise the statement (of the A-G) itself, but there is nothing to stop you from doing it in consideration of estimates of the Attorney General's department."

And still later, "You may not debate this matter because it does not pertain to the speech from the throne."

The last statement brought a yelp of indignation from the opposition.

The debate threatened to go on until the mandatory 6 o'clock adjournment, until Mr. Wiliston asked permission to withdraw his request to make the statement for Mr. Bonner. "So I can get on with my speech."

Speaker Irwin then apologized to the house for the "irregularity" of the debate. "I've seen this coming for several weeks, and I felt this debate was necessary so we could clear the air," he said.

Government Wins Confidence Vote 150 to 80 on Wheat Policy

From Times News Service

First vote of the session has defeated a CCF motion of non-confidence in the government based on opposition dissatisfaction with its policy on farm-held wheat surplus.

A vote of 150 to 80 Thursday night rejected the motion accusing the government of "failure" to provide cash advances on farm-stored grain of at least 75 per cent of the initial price. All three opposition groups and four independent members voted together against the Liberal majority.

In six days of Throne Speech debate, begun last Jan. 12, members of all opposition parties have attacked the government program of guaranteeing bank loans of up to $1,500 at 5 per cent interest on farm-stored grain.

A new non-confidence motion was expected to be injected into the debate by the Social Credit party today.

Opposition leader Drew, on Thursday, entered the debate for a second time with a speech criticizing Trade Minister Howe. He said Mr. Howe told the Commons that if cash advances went into effect the Canadian wheat board's four members would be out of office in four days.

Affront to Every Member—Drew

Mr. Drew said this apparently meant that officials have to approve of any legislation before it can be introduced in the Commons.

"This is bureaucracy carried to the point of an affront to every member of Parliament," he said.

Unless Mr. Howe's statement was utter humbug, "an apology is due to members for an implied threat that public servants will not continue to do their jobs if we do our jobs."

"We've had enough arrogance from ministers without having arrogance from public servants."

Victor Quelch, Social Credit agricultural spokesman, called for a guaranteed price for wheat. He suggested a floor of $1.81 a bushel for the top No. 1 northern grade, the same as the U.S. support.

Mr. Quelch, member for Alberta's Acadia constituency, said the wheat board's initial delivery price of $1.40 a bushel for No. 1 northern is not a floor price. That price merely was set low enough so the wheat board would not lose if prices fell.

Most other wheat-growing countries supported their domestic wheat prices. Instead of getting in line, Canada had criticized them and said their action was hurting Canada.

Farmers were asking for parity support prices on all farm products based on the 1942-44 period. Parity farm prices would bear a fair relationship to prices of commodities and wages in other industries.

G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) said production costs of Prairie farmers are greater than returns — "a situation which can only lead to bankruptcy."

Would Make Divorce More Difficult

Government officials today studied a French-speaking member of Parliament's suggestion that a federal provincial conference should consider altering the constitution to make divorce more difficult.

Fernand Girard (Ind., Lapointe) said that Canadian divorces had reached "the proportions of a national scandal."

"That is why I think it is necessary . . . to underline certain facts, reaffirm some principles of the moral and legal code (and) to find the lone issue in such an impasse," he said.

Girard said 3,000 divorces were recorded in Canada each year, or one divorce for every 25 marriages. Parliament granted 1,512 divorces to people from Quebec and Newfoundland from 1950 to 1954 and refused only 14. Quebec's divorce total during that period was 1,487.

Quebec and Newfoundland have no divorce courts and all applications for divorce in the two provinces are handled by parliament.

Canadian Broadcasting Corporation television programs were labelled "a disgrace" Thursday.

"If the government feels the CBC is doing a good job then it would be better if they resigned," W. G. Montgomery (PC-Victoria-Carleton) said.

"Even a bunch of amateurs could do better. The programs

$93,000 in Taxes At Stake in Appeal

Canadian National Railways made its first grant to heads of a list of 31 firms and individuals which will appeal city assessments Feb. 1 in city council chambers.

CNR properties here are assessed at $3,154,640 for improvements and $307,940 for land. Based on last year's mill rate, this represents a total taxation of $93,000.

The appeals will be held before a provincial court of revision headed by Forrest L. Shaw and including Leonard Woodhouse and former Saanich reeve Joseph Casey.

It is thought the CNR case will hinge on argument that the property is owned by the Crown, thus tax-exempt. Victoria did not assess the property until last year, when the federal government made its first grant to Victoria in lieu of taxes on federal property. The grant was $72,000.

The government did not at that time accept the CNR Ogden Point property as federally-owned. It comprises most of the CNR holdings here.

In Saanich, 59 appeals have been listed in school district 61 and 18 in district 63. Oak Bay has 20 appeals slated and Esquimalt four or five.

"the bank that service built"

And sure enough they had. Husband George couldn't figure it out. How could his neighbour across the street afford to buy all those nice things? The more he thought about it, the more he convinced himself that his neighbour must be getting money from somewhere. And George was right. His neighbour does have access to money. He has a well-stocked Savings Account at Imperial Bank of Canada, which he bolsters every pay day with a regular deposit. That's how he has the money to buy the things George and his wife would like to have. When you add it up, saving is the easiest, least painful way of obtaining money. Try it. Call in at any branch of Imperial Bank, open a Savings Account and deposit regularly. The saving you do today will give you the things you want tomorrow.

The Attorney-General

AS ALREADY NOTED IN THESE columns, the libel and slander started by Mr. Sommers against Mr. David Sturdy is sub judice and cannot be discussed in print. No comment on that case is offered here. But the conduct of Attorney-General Bonner, the first law officer of the Crown, is not sub judice and is always a proper matter of public discussion.

The recent actions of Mr. Bonner are extraordinary.

On Dec. 7 last he received in his office both Mr. Sturdy and Mr. Sturdy's client, Mr. Eversfield. These gentlemen laid before Mr. Bonner an affidavit sworn by Mr. Eversfield. The affidavit contained allegations of a serious nature calling for immediate explanation.

After considering this evidence, Mr. Bonner sent a telegram to Mr. Sturdy in Vancouver saying that he saw no reason to investigate the matter any further. He construed Mr. Eversfield's affidavit as a political manoeuvre of the Vancouver Centre by-election campaign, and added that he viewed it with "profound skepticism."

A few days later Mr. Sturdy attempted to bring Mr. Eversfield's affidavit before Chief Justice Sloan's commission on forestry, since this document related to the granting of forest management licences. The Chief Justice ruled that his commission did not cover Mr. Eversfield's allegations and therefore refused to consider the affidavit.

A few days later Mr. Sommers sued Mr. Sturdy for libel and slander. But throughout these proceedings Mr. Bonner did nothing.

As the first law officer of the Crown it is his duty to investigate allegations of such a nature and, if he thinks it required, to take legal action.

Mr. Eversfield's affidavit alleged a situation of the utmost gravity.

Mr. Bonner, as he said in his telegram to Mr. Sturdy, was convinced that the allegations were false and therefore required no action by the Crown.

If the affidavit was false then it constituted perjury by Mr. Eversfield who signed it. Yet Mr. Bonner took no action against Mr. Eversfield.

Instead, Mr. Bonner allowed the whole case to be confined to a civil suit for libel and slander, as launched by Mr. Sommers.

Of course Mr. Sommers was well within his rights to launch this suit and, until it is settled, probably many months from now, no one has the right to comment on it, except in the Legislature.

But this suit is a matter apart altogether from Mr. Bonner's duty as the chief law enforcement officer of the Crown. Usually in such circumstances civil proceedings are not permitted to affect or delay the processes of justice. Mr. Bonner departs from this normal procedure. He declines to consider Mr. Eversfield's allegations altogether and stands by while Mr. Sommers begins a civil suit.

Under these conditions it has become the duty of the Legislature to demand an explanation from Mr. Bonner and, if it is not satisfied with his explanation, to discipline him.

The fact that a civil suit is under way does not prevent the Legislature from considering the conduct of the Government. For the Government is the creature and servant of the Legislature, responsible to it at all times for its every act, or its failure to act. And nothing can be of more serious concern to the Legislature than the possibility that the Government, through Mr. Bonner, is failing in its primary duty, the enforcement of the law.

The public will expect the Legislature to go fully into this question, as raised by Mr. Webster yesterday.

Freedom Is Embattled

CENSORSHIP IS CONTAGIOUS, according to a bulletin issued by the International Press Institute from Zurich. The Institute has been carrying out an intensive study of press freedom and regulation in the non-totalitarian countries of the world. The totalitarian lands were not included in the investigations. The state of the press in such nations is already known.

The surprising fact to those who automatically associate freedom of the press with democracy is that press freedom is restricted in one form or another in nearly every "free" country.

Much of the regulation is imposed in the name of security, made necessary by the cold war. Some countries find it necessary to restrain the press where it is felt that "national prestige" or "national interest" is threatened. And the Institute also notes a tendency in some countries to shield public figures from what is termed "overly big criticism."

Another observation is that where democracies are adjacent to totalitarian countries, they appear to adopt some of the restrictions imposed on the press by the dictators. The Institute reports this was common in Europe before the war and has latterly been observed in Latin America.

The Institute terms more serious the emergence of press restrictions in countries which have a heritage of democratic government and customs, and it names South Africa, Australia and France in this regard. South Africa is accused of "deliberate intimidation" of the press, Australia is charged with a campaign against so-called "corruptive" writing. France, along with the Netherlands, Turkey, Brazil, Italy and other nations is accused of the arbitrary arrest of journalists.

Canada, too, is not free of infringements against press freedom. Municipal laws in Quebec Province—later declared invalid by the Supreme Court of Canada—which curbed distribution of pamphlets (the Jehovah's Witnesses case) are cited as an attack on freedom.

The report might also have mentioned the indirect pressure now building up in the same province, where Premier Duplessis has placed the newspaper industry under a government commission and ordered special newspaper prices for Quebec newspapers. Through such means influence may be brought to bear on editorial policy, and it is significant that no sharp editorial chorus has been raised in Quebec against this development.

The tone of the Institute's report is not pessimistic. It notes that the spread of freedom to new countries has brought increasing press freedom with it. It notes, too, that in many parts of the world the struggle for freedom of the press has "sharpened," with a growing consciousness of the need for constant vigilance.

Vigilance must always be the watch-word where freedom of the press is concerned. Far too easily a seemingly insignificant breach of the principle can lead to serious measures. In protecting its own freedom, the press also guards the freedom of all men. Where press freedom is lost much more goes with it.

A Deceptive Increase

THE RAPID GROWTH OF MANUFACTURING has been one of the post-war phenomena in Canada. The wartime emergency and the vast industrial rehabilitation job following the conflict, combined to place this country in the forefront of industrialized countries.

One-third of our population now gains its livelihood from manufacturing. Since the end of the war no less than $6.8 billions has been invested in manufacturing, plants and processes, more than equalling the $6.5 billions invested during that time in developing natural resources.

But another important fact also emerges in this connection, and it has been emphasized in the annual report of La Banque Canadienne Nationale. While the absolute increase in our manufacturing has been great, the comparative increase has been almost static. In 1939, 87 per cent of Canada's exports consisted of cereals, wood, pulp, minerals, chemicals and other raw or semi-finished products.

By 1954 this proportion, despite the increase in manufacturing, was almost unchanged, being still 85 per cent.

In other words, the country had not really changed its status as a nation which is predominantly an exporter of raw and nearly-raw materials.

Two-thirds of our imports from the United States in 1954, for instance, consisted of manufactured goods, often made from Canadian raw materials.

The fact that the basic proportions of our economy have not changed is a significant one. It must affect our approach to foreign trade, to tariff policy, to our immigration program and other vital segments of the national pattern. It carries, too, the corollary that further expansion of manufacturing on an even vaster scale may be in prospect for Canada, to an extent that would swing the balance in favor of secondary industry.

Such a development would naturally depend not only on the availability of domestic and foreign investment capital, but also on the ability of world markets to absorb what we have to offer.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

THE other day I said a few rude words about Professor Ashley Montagu, the man who writes books to prove that women are better than men. I regard the Professor as a disgrace to the opposite sex, because he admires women for all the wrong reasons...

I am unfair. But he does select some very piffing and even insulting reasons. For example, when he says women endure foreign occupation of their country more calmly than men, I do not take this as much of a compliment. It is an insult. In fact, the more calmly the women took it, the less calm it would leave the men, surely. If you tried occupying a country with female troops, I dare say the men would take it more calmly than the women.

WHEN he says women stand all dangerous or horrible situations better than men, he may be telling the truth or he may not. I have no way of knowing. Whatever statistics he has, they may be wrong or misleading. But in any event, you will sometimes find that a stupid or unimaginative person (male or female) will come through a bad time a lot better than a bright or imaginative one. Just as a tortoise (male or female) will cross a high trestle bridge with more sangfroid than will a horse.

Different things depress or frighten different people, male or female. And again, the capacity to feel pain, physical and mental, may actually be a sign of intelligence... quite often it is... but not necessarily a sign of which sex you belong to. As for the ability to control yourself, that is a tremendously complex subject. Lord Moran has studied it a little, a very little. Hardly anyone else has touched it yet. I know there are times when a woman makes me seem a baby, and there are times when I make her seem one. (I am not referring to my wife, but to the two sexes.)

MY tiny knowledge (I hope it increases) of how to cheer myself up has been gained from men and women alike, nor do I think of any of my few instructors as typically male or typically female, but only as wise and very rare persons. And my capacity to learn from them, such as it is, I do not regard as either male from my father or female from my mother.

And talking of cheering ourselves up, let us examine one or two of the Professor's more ludicrous boasts about women. He says that women are better than men because men are sixteen times as likely to be color-blind (which doesn't matter), and five times as likely to stutter (which is often a sign of having been perplexed by that woman your mother).

HE says that girls at school are mentally two years ahead of boys. Well, what about it? Young chimpanzees are miles ahead of either girls OR boys, for the first few years. For much longer years, many savage races have children who can beat ours hollow at precocity. But after a while this precocity ceases to show. Later still, it is often the once-precocious child who is at a disadvantage. You can't teach a chimpanzee much after he gets out of kindergarten, and while certain Arctic tribes have children who can lead Grade 5 class, they couldn't even get promoted from Grade 6 to Grade 7.

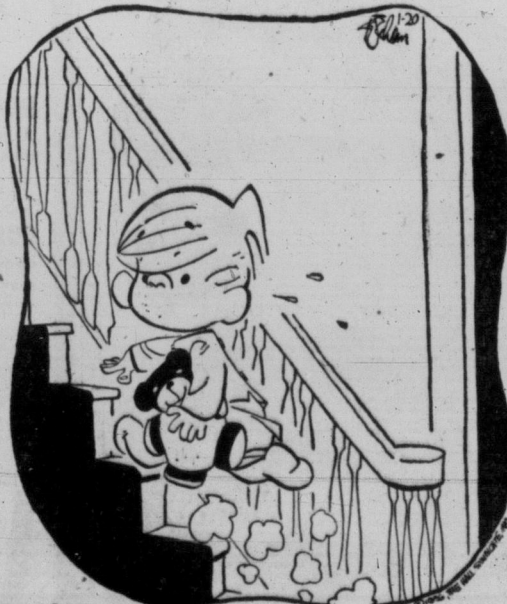

No, if you can't think of better reasons for admiring women than their precocity or their being warranted free of color blindness, then you had better quit thinking about women at all. And in any event, you treat them like foreigners, either inferior ones or superior ones? And why admire them in one huge mass, or despise them as a mass?

I DO not like being forced to generalize about women as a uniform bunch. One of the things I like about them best is that they seem to me to vary more than men do... though I do not think either sex varies nearly enough.

If I were forced to generalize about women, then I would say (offhand) that women are kinder and meaner than men are. They are braver and more cowardly. Wiser and more foolish. More yielding and yet far stubborn. More practical but rasher. Happier in the present but more restless. Happier in the future but more apprehensive. Deft and pleasure more surely yet more doubtfully. (And on the wisdom of making, sure what pleases you, see Samuel Butler's Notebooks.)

I WOULD add that women, on the whole, are more beautiful than men but much uglier. They guard their tongues more and also less. They are more compassionate and less charitable. They hang together more than men do, and also less, for reasons that are both better and worse. They are more imaginative and less. They look outward more, but are more egocentric. Change for its own sake they seek more than men do, yet they are less adventurous, less easily bored, and more prudent; also, they are closer in touch with tradition and yet not so close. And they take themselves less seriously, both as individuals and as a group, but also far more seriously. Their minds are more on-track but also more on-track. Their sense of proportion is finer and coarser. They can think of two things at a time more easily and less easily than men.

HELIPORT SITES

About two years ago, a comprehensive report covering "heliport" sites in the Greater Victoria area was prepared by Air Vice-Marshal A. T. Cowley, and submitted to our city council as well as to Ottawa, as an official survey for review and necessary action. It stressed the accessibility and various advantages of the Industrial Reserve, in particular, as a suitable helicopter base.

While there has been a rapid development of helicopter services and "heliport" plans in Vancouver and elsewhere in Canada, and in the United States and Great Britain, our city of Victoria, "helicopterally," apparently remains in a myopic, lethargic state. Why?

SCOUTS' APPRECIATION

We would like to take this opportunity of thanking the many individuals and firms of Victoria who so generously gave their support to the Oaklands Boy Scout Toy Repair Shop.

Our first note of thanks goes to the Victoria Daily Times. Their generous advertising both in Freeman King's articles and by their staff photographer were a great aid to us.

Our thanks also go to Mr. J. Nordahl, owner of the Embassy Court, who so generously donated the use of his building at 1919 Douglas. Also the many department stores who gave us their donations in the midst of their Christmas rush.

Our gratitude goes out to the many generous people of Victoria who helped to make our project a success through their donations.

As a result of all these donations, we were able to give a total of 98 presents to 14 children. We have a good stock of toys that can be repaired during the year to give us a bigger and better start next Christmas.

Again we offer our grateful thanks to all.

J. Murphy, Scoutmaster.
R. Kinney, Asst. Scoutmaster.

THE LUST FOR POWER

A desire for power is inherent in human nature but a growing number of labor leaders are now avowing their dedication to the use of force only, in order to penalize employers. Meditation and conciliation are being thrust aside.

The lust for power by some unions and labor leaders is certainly not in the best interests of our country and its people. Surely it is time to call a halt to the semi-annual and annual demands for more and more wages where high wages are already paid. What consideration is there for the "average" underprivileged citizen, who pays for all these constant increases?

In many instances unions and labor leaders have become arrogant and are adept at distortion of the facts and at rabble-rousing, they have no regard for any person or for any law that stands in their pathway to conquest.

Some of these irresponsible union bosses seem recently to take a delight in expressing contempt for government-established boards of conciliation. What does it matter to them if they lead a large number of employees out on strike, where lost wages will not be recovered for many years? What does it matter to them if the economic position of an entire community is dealt a staggering blow, so long as they can have about their "victory" and have satisfied their lust for power?

While ago I wrote that a 5 per cent increase per annum, when compounded, means that a $350 a month wage in just 14 years will reach $750 per month and in 45 years of working life would reach $3,000 per month. Its fantastic, and there must be a halt called somewhere.

Our governments and political parties appear afraid to do anything to stop the crazy round-about. When and where is it all going to end? We are certainly playing into the hands of Russia as it is, the Canadian Communists are certainly doing all possible to keep the wage merry-go-round going to ruin our economy.

FRANK PARTRIDGE,

Mr. Dulles Still on the Brink

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

THERE is not as yet available any plausible explanation of why Mr. Dulles chose deliberately to have the Life magazine article written about him. For the extraordinary thing about this article is that while it pretends to reveal the inner truths of our recent policy in the Far East, it provides a fundamentally false account. The falsity lies in this: That Mr. Dulles describes what has happened in Korea, Indo-China and the Formosa Strait in terms of unilateral deterrents.

Lippmann, the United States. What has really happened is that both sides and all concerned have been held within a condition of mutual deterrent.

Thus, while it is no doubt true that the Communists have been deterred by fear of our retaliation, it is also undoubtedly true that Dr. Syngman Rhee, General Chiang Kai-shek, Admiral Radford and those who wanted to intervene in Indo-China have been deterred by our fear of Soviet retaliation.

MUTUAL DETERRENT

The existence of the military stalemate explains, as Mr. Dulles's one-sided account does not explain, the political situation in the contested area on the approaches to China.

The actual condition of mutual deterrent, or military stalemate, was first discerned by Churchill when he learned the results of the hydrogen bomb test. Shortly after that the conclusion was drawn by the President in his famous declaration that there is "no alternative to peace."

It was that declaration, which the Russians have since then subscribed to, and was the core of that conference.

Now if there is no alternative to peace, then no one can go to the brink of war in the sense that he threatens to go to war. If war is not an alternative, then anyone who threatens war is either mad or is bluffing. If war is not an alternative, then issues have to be compromised.

If, as Mr. Dulles's article implies—though he himself must know better—we were the unilateral deterrents in the Far East, we would have enjoyed a military superiority sufficient to make the Communists give in to us on the issue in dispute. In fact, all we have been able to get has been peace on the basis of the military status quo. Both sides have had to accept peace without victory.

ALL OVER-AWED

Mr. Dulles must come very near to being the first Foreign Minister who has ever wanted to appear more warlike than in fact he was.

"Life" magazine has painted a picture of a bold and threatening man who has over-awed the adversary. The fact is that everybody has been over-awed. The Communists have been deterred from aggression beyond the line of the status quo; we have been deterred from liberation beyond that line.

In order to maintain and stabilize that line—at which both sides are deterred, we have not only made known that we would fight if that line were crossed by armed forces, we have also given assurances that we ourselves will not cross the line in the other direction.

In Korea, we have guaranteed South Korea against aggression from North Korea and from China. In return we have taken the necessary military means to prevent Dr. Rhee from drawing us into an attempt to liberate North Korea.

In Indo-China we were deterred from intervening with an air strike to save Dien Bien Phu by the fear that China would then intervene openly by invading Northern Vietnam. Such an invasion would have required an air bombardment of China to repel it. That was a course from which we were deterred by the fear that this would cause the Soviet Union to intervene.

This is how mutual deterrents work. It worked in Indo-China to deter open intervention either by the Chinese or by ourselves, and to produce cessation of hostilities on the basis of the military status quo. There is no point in talking now as if it had all been some kind of victory.

In the Formosa Strait we gave Chiang a treaty of guarantee which was, as Mr. Dulles says, a warning not to attack Formosa. But Mr. Dulles has, in his role of melodramatic hero, omitted the other half of the story.

The other half is that we then released Chiang firmly and sent word to Peiping through various diplomatic channels that we would not permit, much less would we assist, Chiang to attempt to return to the mainland.

In the Formosa affair Chiang got a guarantee of his island refuge and Chou En-lai got the assurance that Chiang was no longer to be regarded as a serious contender on the mainland.

MILITARY STALEMATE

In sum, the Eisenhower policy in the Far East has operated—as it had to—with in the over-all condition of a military stalemate. This has led to a series of compromises—probably temporary—based on the military status quo. It is not glorious what we have done, it is merely making the best of things as they are, and striking heroic and melodramatic poses about it is entirely uncalled for.

The article has done damage to the country and to Mr. Dulles's own usefulness as Secretary of State. He has provided the Soviet propaganda with a text which is sheer bonanza. The exasperating thing about it is that whereas ordinarily we have to contend with untruths that others tell about us, here we have to contend with half-truths that are tantamount to untruths put out by the Secretary of State himself.

For the truth, which will now be obscured by that magazine article, is that United States foreign policy has been more realistic and more responsible than anyone would suppose who had read what Mr. Dulles has allowed to be written about it.

INTOLERANCE

Why shouldn't we be intolerant? This toleration is so unfair to the weak people who need the guard rails of deterrence very often. Wholesome fear is a good thing—it doesn't produce frightened people; it provides a security for the weak. A child who is expected to be home at a certain time at night is a happier child and one less likely to fall to temptation than one whose parents are too tolerant over the matter, in fact wishy-washy about it.

—C. A. Joyce.

SEA MOO

A report by the authorities who run our naval canteens shows that the Navy's cry is no longer "Yo ho ho and a bottle of rum," but rather "Yo ho ho and a bottle of tuberculin tested milk." It's a fact. The staple drink of the Royal Navy today—the liquid of which they down more than any other—is that which the Navy of another age used to dismiss contemptuously as "cow juice."

—Sam Pollock, on the BBC.

SHOW A LEG!

In the days of the wooden walls of England, sailors used to smuggle their lady friends aboard. Hence the expression "Show a leg." They wanted to see whether it was a man's leg or a girl's leg that came out of the hammock!

—Captain Marshall, Master of the new cable ship "Ocean Layer."

OASES

One of the constant surprises and pleasures of London is that no matter where you live you are never far from an open space, with green grass and great refreshing trees.

Dogs That Bark Tunes

LONDON—These days whenever there is a record request program on the radio you can be almost sure that someone will have asked for — and got — a record by The Singing Dogs. They are a tremendous hit here, which is not surprising, this being such a dog-conscious nation.

The records are made in Copenhagen and although I don't know how popular they are in your part of the world I'm sure that by now you've heard these dogs barking such tunes as "Jingle Bells" and "Pat-a-Cake." It puzzled me — as it probably did you — how on earth dogs could be made to bark a tune, so I made inquiries and learned how it is done.

Reyburn

Man behind the singing dogs is Carl Weismann. With a tape machine he recorded the barks of some 20 dogs, from the low-pitched gruffness of a Scottie to the high-pitched yap of a Pekingese. He took the melody of, say, "Jingle Bells" and cutting up his pieces of tape he fitted the appropriate bark to each note and then joined them all up together.

Following the success of the records already made, which were done for children and have scored with all ages, Weismann (who made little money as a recorder of bird-calls and decided to switch to dog-calls) is turning to jazz. The next disc by the singing dogs will be a hot rhythm number.

SPEAKING OF RECORDS, there is a new loudspeaker that has been developed here which is expected to revolutionize gramophones — plus radio and TV sets. It was news to me that although terrific strides have been made in the other departments of reproducing sound — high-fidelity recording, etc. — the loudspeaker has remained fundamentally the same since 1925. But now a British engineer, Harold Leak, has come up with a speaker on an entirely new principle called — for the time being at any rate — "a balanced-push-pull electrostatic loudspeaker."

I was talking to a recording artist last night and when I asked him whether he had heard it in action he gave an ecstatic look — or was it electrostatic? — and said: "Sensational!" The new gadget will be on the market here soon and, according to inventor Leak, within five years practically all the world's new gramophones, radio and TV sets will be equipped with them.

AN ENGLISHMAN I know who certainly isn't effeminate was discussing a mutual friend and he said: "He's so cute." I did a double-take. Then I remembered that "cute" in England means cunning, crafty. It is only gradually — through the influence of U.S. movies — getting the meaning we have for it.

MACABRE STORY going the rounds concerns a widow who kept ashes of her husband in an urn on the mantelpiece. At a party some people who didn't know the significance used the urn as an ashtray. Next morning when the woman came down and looked into the urn she said: "Darling, if I didn't know you were dead I'd swear you were putting on weight."

New Attacks on Cancer

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

As I said in a recent column, the ultraviolet viruses have a decided preference for certain tissues in certain animals. Like a small boy at table, they may refuse absolutely to eat certain foods such as brains or tripe or liver; or, while willing to eat beef, they may balk at pork. Also I pointed out that just as a mother can conceivably train her boy to eat and even prefer brains and liver to other meats, so a laboratory researcher may take a virus, such as the one of polio, that likes to eat out certain nerve centers in a child's spinal cord, and so change its appetite that it will perhaps stay in the child's bowel, leaving the nervous system untouched.

Dr. Alvarez

A while ago the research workers in the great Sloan Kettering research laboratories in New York City discovered a few viruses that have a special fondness for living on cancer cells. The logical thing to do then was to train these viruses, through many generations, to be ever more fussy and choosy about eating cancer cells until they would not care to eat also the normal cells of a man.

Now, I read that two such viruses have been developed and are being tried out on cancerous men and women. Naturally, it will be some time before the results of such treatments are known, but the idea back of it sounds like a good one.

IMPROVEMENT IN POLIO SITUATION

In the last release of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Dr. Hart E. Van Riper stated that last year hospital admission rates for polio in eight-year-olds — the best vaccinated group — had dropped 52 per cent. The corresponding drop for seven-year-olds was 4 per cent. For young people aged 15 through 19 years, not vaccinated, the decrease in admission rate decreased by only 12 per cent.

We now can hope that some day, as there is less polio sweeping through the country, the incidence of the disease will keep falling steadily. It is now estimated that last year the use of the Salk vaccine in the schools saved between 1,200 and 1,300 children from getting paralytic polio.

NEW DRUGS FOR ACUTE LEUKEMIA

Acute leukemia, a disease which sometimes attacks children and even adults, is a terrifying ailment because it is often so quickly fatal. The victim may be well one day and dead three weeks later. For this reason any drug that will give the patient even a few extra months of life is welcomed. Drugs such as 6-mercaptopurine and azaserine have somewhat lengthened life. Now comes Dr. Joseph M. Hill, of the Wadley Research Institute and Blood Centre, in Dallas, Texas, who says that the use of two new anti-leukemic drugs, prednisolone and prednisone has caused the number of persons surviving for more than a year to increase from 13 per cent to 38 per cent. These drugs, also, bring about more remissions in which the child will feel so well he can go back to school. I am sorry to have to emphasize that a cure is not yet available, but what has been accomplished will cause all blood-experts now working on the problem to take hope.

A TWO-CELLED HUMAN EMBRYO

My old friend, Dr. George Corner, director of the Carnegie Institute's famous department of embryology in Baltimore, has the world's most remarkable collection of early human embryos. Now it is reported in Science News Letter that the research workers at the Institute have found the smallest and earliest human embryo: one made up of only two cells. They already had one of 12 cells; another of 58 cells, and a fourth of 107 cells. These microscopic human embryos closely resemble those of animals. Only later do they develop far enough so that someone, an expert, can tell what sort of a creature is being formed.

GREAT HELP FROM NEW QUIETING DRUGS

In the last year new tranquilizing drugs have been very helpful in quieting excited patients in mental hospitals. Often now with these drugs, the excited and pugnacious patient calms down to a point where he will talk to other patients and go to the dining table with them. He will talk to his doctor and thus get help from him.

According to a note in Science News Letter in one mental hospital alone the number of electroshock treatments given in a year dropped from 11,300 to none at all.

Hole in the Ice

Opposition Leader Arnold Webster, who usually skates through legislative debate with a certain sedate grace, pointed out the hole in the ice yesterday.

The hole in the ice is the libel and slander action brought by Lands and Forests Minister Sommers against lawyer David Sturdy. It cannot be discussed outside the Legislature (except in court) — and Mr. Speaker Irwin thinks it should not be discussed inside. It is possible, however, to suggest that the man who originally ruled "Danger, Thin Ice, Keep Clear" was on thin ice himself.

Mr. Webster approached it that way. He said that Mr. Bonner was bound to concern himself with the integrity of the Government. And Mr. Webster wasn't satisfied with the way the Attorney-General had treated statutory declarations placed before him by Mr. David Sturdy. Someone, he said, appeared to be guilty of perjury or bribery.

The events which followed proved that the idyllic skaters' waltz of the present session is finished after a short two days.

Members of the opposition parties showed quite clearly that they intend to keep pointing directly at the hole — legally, of course. And Mr. Speaker Irwin hasn't yet demonstrated his ability to keep them away from it, though he tried.

While the performance proceeded — the first excitement of the session to date — Mr. Bonner, Mr. Bennett and Mr. Irwin all took turns on the ice and found the footing insecure. Their figures weren't good. Liberals and CCFers kept moving in on the act, streaming out like hockey

Gentle Voice of Criticism

Beyond that, Mr. Webster gave his customary reasoned and reasonable performance as the critic of the government. Occasionally words crept into his speech that carried more sting than usual. Still, the general tone was restrained.

He isn't backing Mr. Bennett's crusade against Ottawa, though he isn't against a more equitable distribution of tax money. And he isn't completely sold on the province's school plan. School boards aren't entirely satisfied with the department, either, he said, suggesting the department was a trifle smug.

Mr. Webster is more prone to the quiet smile than the rough word. His voice is modulated almost to classroom pitch — the tone of a teacher who feels little is gained by shouting.

Maybe that's the proper tenor for the Socialist in a land of plenty in times of prosperity. Nye Bevan's robust attack did not make too much headway in Britain.

Mr. Williston, following Mr. Norway's Kongsberg silver works, which produced 2,866,500 pounds of silver since 1923, will be closed after July 1, 1957. The Norwegian government has decided extraction of remaining ore is too expensive.

TCA Favors U.S. Planes Over Comets

MONTREAL (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines is planning the purchase of four 120-passenger jet aircraft for delivery by 1961. Orders will be placed in the United States.

TCA president G. R. McGregor disclosed Thursday that the publicly-owned system will spend about $35,000,000 for the jets and replacement parts. The choice, to be made soon, will be between the U.S. Boeing 707 and the DC-8. He said Britain's Comets are not being considered.

Logging Firm Would Boost Forest Licences on Coast

Allison Logging Co. Ltd., Vancouver, told the Sloan commission Thursday forest management licences should be increased on the coast, particularly in under-cut areas.

The firm is seeking a management licence in the Bella Coola area. It submitted that existing industry should be given first consideration in the issuing of licences, and that provision be made in future licence contracts for operations by contract loggers.

The company told Chief Justice Gordon Sloan that 80 per cent of the timber in northern B.C., particularly in the Bella Coola area, is suitable for saw logs.

"For many years, timber in this region has been considered principally as being suited only for conversion to pulp," the brief said.

KC's Win Shield For Donations At Blood Clinic

NANAIMO — Winner of Nanaimo Jaycee's bronze shield trophy for the most pints donated at the two-day blood drive which ended at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday was the local order of the Knights of Columbus.

Of the 92 members of that organization, 72 turned out for the drive and 55 were accepted as donors.

The shield was presented to Dr. M. Zorkin, grand knight, by Bill Currie, immediate past president of the junior chamber and co-chairman of the blood drive with Les Mottishaw.

Five organizations took part in the competition for the shield. They were the Lions Club, Loyal Order of Moose, Knights of Columbus, Kiwanis and Royal Arcanum Lodge. The winner was chosen on a percentage system based on the number of pints donated and the number of members in the club.

To Scrap Liner

LONDON (Reuters) — The 35-year-old Cunard liner Samaria has been sold for scrap. It was announced Thursday. She will leave Southampton for the last time next week. The 19,597-ton Samaria was used as a troopship in the Second World War and later carried thousands of Canadian servicemen home before resuming her long career as an Atlantic liner.

Reader Teaching Forum Tonight

Public Welcome as Experts Debate Pros and Cons of Modern Methods

Pros and cons of modern teaching in the subject of reading are slated for airing tonight in a free public forum at Central Junior High School auditorium.

The meeting starts at 8 p.m. It will be attended by parents from all sections of Greater Victoria due to promotion by branches of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Sponsors are the PTA council and Greater Victoria Teachers' Association in co-operation with Greater Victoria School Board. Speakers who will present varying aspects on reading are Miss Marian James, primary supervisor of the Greater Victoria School System; Jack Hayes, principal Frank Hobbs Elementary School; Donald Smith, vice-principal Oak Bay Junior High School and Miss Verna Turner, department of tests and measures of the school system.

Chairman of the panel will be Dr. Henrietta Anderson. Organization has been superintended by Tom Curteis.

Persons attending have been asked to bring pencil and paper for use in the question period. There will be displayed textbooks, posters and pictures relative to the teaching of reading. Samples of completed work-

Film Council Won't Accept Peace Council

Victoria Film Council has refused membership to Victoria branch, Canadian Peace Council, on grounds that it is a Communist front organization.

Elgin Neish, recent alderman candidate here and president of the local Peace Council confirmed the report today.

"It is a revival of the same book-burning tactics that flared here some time ago," he stated. "The refusal was by the executive of the film council and never went to the membership." Film council chairman Vincent Baines said today, "It's a Commie outfit. That's the reason we didn't accept it."

PUBLIC BODY

Mr. Neish admits no Communist affiliations and maintains that the Film Council is a public body, dependent on public funds. As such, he feels the council cannot refuse membership to any bona fide organization.

He said that the Peace Council had rented films from the Film Council in the past and had asked to become a member when it was realized that member organizations obtain cheaper rates for film rentals.

The film council has headquarters at the Victoria Public Library where there is a working arrangement for storage space. The library is an honorary member of the council. A library employee acts as film council corresponding secretary.

FREE FILMS

National Film Board, a federal government department, makes available free films on loan basis to the film council. These are in turn rented to clubs and organizations and the funds used for procuring more projectors and films from other sources.

Mr. Neish said he did not know what action the Peace Council would take following the refusal of membership. "I am absolutely opposed to this trend in public bodies and will continue to fight it."

Mr. Neish was barred from membership in the Canadian Legion last year because of his Peace Council activities. "That was a private organization. But this is a public body," said Mr. Neish. He said that unless the government outlawed the Peace Council it had the same right to membership as any other group.

"He has a point there," said Mr. Baines. He added, "They can always appear before the film council at a general meeting if they have any beef."

Reception Improved For View Royal TV

VIEW ROYAL—TV viewers here have noted an improvement in reception following changes made at the Sooke Lake Lumber Co. Mill. It was reported at the regular meeting of View Royal Community Association.

Residents of View Royal Avenue and Plowright Road still note interference, however. As a result, the association will ask the department of transport radio division to assist in removing the trouble.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Thursday he hopes to bring down his 1956-57 provincial budget about Feb. 2.

The budget, to be the largest in the history of the province, will be introduced at the close of the throne speech debate, which the premier expects will be over in the first week of next month.

PGE Train Rolls Into West Van Amid Clamor of Bells and Horns

VANCOUVER (CP)—First Pacific Great Eastern Railway train in 28 years entered suburban West Vancouver Thursday on a two-mile trial run over the still unfinished link with Squamish, 40 miles up the coast. The two 70-ton, 550-horsepower diesel units pushed a caboose and two tamping cars over a skeleton track. Along the route, residents stood on front or back porches and watched the train, bells clanging and horns hooting, move past their homes. This was something many had fought for years and hoped. Water from melting glaciers irrigates rice paddies in Nepal. Farmers stir the mud with wooden plows but leave the sowing and reaping to their wives. An accident marred the dignity of the historic trip Thursday. The chimney of the caboose crashed into an overhead telephone pole brace, knocked the pole ajar and cut the wires.

N. Cowichan Lists Details Of Road Plans

CHEMAINUS—Using the recent road tour as a guide, North Cowichan council this week approved a roads program calling for an overall expenditure of $110,000.

The program includes the following projects:

Asphalting of the following Chemainus streets: Pine, Arbutus, Seaview, Esplanade, Oak, Willow, Alder, Victoria, Front and Cedar at a cost of $15,000; completion of Gibbons road, $15,000; work on Townsite road, $5,000; asphalting roads in the business and central area of Maple Bay, $5,000; Sherman road, surfacing, $5,000; Canada avenue, improvements, $2,500.

Construction program will include work on Gibbons road to cost $1,000, and preliminary work in the straightening of corners on Herd road at a cost of $3,000.

Further items included in the program were: Drainage, $2,000; bridges, $1,000; snow clearing, $1,000; maintenance, $50,000; surveys, $2,500; moving of poles, $1,000.

Crofton and Osborn Bay roads will be left as is for the present, until definite information is received as to the location of B.C. Forest Products' proposed road to the pulp mill site.

Sooke-Jordan River Chamber Adopts New Scale of Fees

SOOKE—A new scale of fees for members of the Sooke-Jordan River Chamber of Commerce was arrived at during the regular meeting held here this week.

Abolishing the two-fee system which differentiated between business members and private individuals, the dues have now been set at $5 each with extra members from any firm or family being admitted at $2.50 each. W. J. Davey, guest of the chamber, urged that the group's influence be used in all possible ways to have the bus service to the area increased. Over the

Chemainus Kin Plan Campaign For Polio Fund

CHEMAINUS—A mail appeal campaign, Mother's March and a district-wide bottle drive will be used by Kinsmen to raise money for their B.C. Polio Fund.

Club polio campaign chairman Jim Syme said that letters had already been sent out to private individuals, clubs and business firms. Mother's March will be held on Saturday, Feb. 18, and a district-wide bottle drive the following day will wind up this year's campaign here.

Kinsmen Jack Miller, who is a member of the board of directors of the B.C. Polio Fund, stressed the importance of the current drive.

"Despite the success of the Salk vaccine, we need more money than ever before to fight polio," he said.

Nearly 50,000 children had been vaccinated in B.C. last year with no incidence of polio, Mr. Miller said, "but there are still hundreds of others recovering from the disease and who need rehabilitation."

Legion, Auxiliary Elect Officers At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—Incoming officers of Branch 191, Canadian Legion and the Legion Auxiliary were installed by a former president, William Rice.

Legion officers installed were: E. E. Jackson, president; Frank Dyer, first vice-president; J. Milmore, second vice-president; executive members, Al Biggs, R. J. Duncan, C. W. Simmonds, F. Deacon and W. Vye; Harry Otto, sergeant-at-arms.

Auxiliary officers are Mrs. N. Duncan, president; Mrs. T. Simmonds and Mrs. R. Savory, vice-presidents; Mrs. O. Reid, secretary; Mrs. M. B. Robinson, treasurer; executive—Mrs. A. Kerr, Mrs. L. Jackson, Mrs. G. Kenny; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. F. Cochrane.

Loggers Prepare To Open Camp

CHEMAINUS — MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. crews began the job of plowing out its logging roads in the Copper Canyon area this week. Unless there is more snow or bad weather, company officials expect to have a portion of the camp in operation again by Feb. 1. Logging operations have been closed down since November.

Sooke School Trustee Resigns; Protests Building Survey Cost

By DOUG FORRESTER

SOOKE—Charging that the Board of School District No. 62 has lost the confidence of the people it represents, Trustee Douglas J. DeRochie of Sooke today submitted his resignation to the board.

Final breaking point, after a long series of disagreements with board policy, came when the board decided to set aside $1,500 for a survey of future building requirements of the district.

"This is a direct admission that the board has lost the confidence of the ratepayers, and the board should resign accordingly," Mr. DeRochie said.

In announcing his refusal to be associated any longer with such policies he went on to say: "The school inspector and the board secretary are quite capable of forecasting our building needs without additional expense to the public and without utilizing more than six hours of their time."

Mr. DeRochie has served as a trustee for more than five years established. At that time there centrate the secondary school facilities for the entire district in the Belmont area. As a result of that incident Mr. DeRochie became a strong exponent for splitting the district into "inner" and "outer" areas.

In an interview Mr. DeRochie said: "It seems to me that the crisis in education matters extends far beyond the boundaries of School District 62. I am greatly disturbed by the possibility of a breakdown of the whole trustee system. Recent elections throughout the province showed the trend when a great many trustees were put into office by acclamation. In Port Alberni there were actually two vacancies on the school board and no nominations. In Grand Forks there was one. This is a situation of which the Department of Education surely cannot be proud."

PARKSVILLE (CP)—Fred J. Banks polled 191 votes Thursday to 105 for Mrs. Josephine Bloom to win a by-election to fill a vacancy on the Parksville village commission.

Herring Catch Tops Average For V.I. Waters

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia fishermen have taken 118,700 tons of herring from coastal waters with the haul from the central region far ahead of the average for the last five years, the fisheries department announced today.

A total of 36,000 tons has been taken from the district immediately north of Vancouver Island compared with last year's catch of 23,171 tons.

This year's heavy herring take has been reduced to 21,400 tons of herring meal and 2,629,000 gallons of herring oil and 121 tons have been sold fresh for human consumption.

Huge Sports Centre Urged for Nanaimo

NANAIMO — A new arena, stock car race track, and senior sports ground, all at Beban Park, were suggested by Ald. William C. McGregor in an address Thursday to Nanaimo Junior Chamber of Commerce. He said that of the $100,000 the city received from the sale of the old Central Sports Ground to Safeway Stores in 1952, the sum of $32,263.75 remains unspent.

Ald. McGregor gave a detailed account of how the difference had been used in the three years since the sale, saying $50,730.20 had been used to purchase Beban Park at the edge of the city limits.

He suggested the parks board should have a share of the remaining balance to improve existing parks and secondary playgrounds.

Speaking of a new arena, he said "Nanaimo is referred to as the Hub City of Vancouver Island, and as a hub city it should cater to out-of-towners."

"Professional league hockey and lacrosse will not look at an arena with a seating capacity of less than 5,000," he said. When a member said that such a building would cost well over $200,000, Ald. McGregor said he was not speaking of such a project for this year, but as something to be done in the next four to six years.

"Such a project could be afforded, and would not only benefit Nanaimo but the whole of Vancouver Island," he said.

BILL WALKER—Sports Editor

8 Victoria Daily Times FRIDAY, JAN. 20, 1956

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

BRANDON—It was 35 degrees below zero here Thursday, but it appears that not even the weather can chill the interest that Brandon folk have in their new-found hockey club.

Tonight's Western Hockey League game between the Regals (formerly of Regina) and the Cougars is a complete sell-out.

The town has accepted the Regals with open arms, and the Regals have reciprocated.

They have won their last four games, and will carry that winning streak into the contest with the Cougars.

According to reports, the Brandon fans are among the liveliest in the league, and the small building with a small ice surface, 82x180, figuratively bounces off its foundations when the Regals score. The fans are that enthusiastic.

Since the Regina franchise came here more than 1,500 season tickets have been sold. This equals or better than many other Western League cities, and fans here are lured at reports from Ken MacKenzie of New Westminster and Art Chapman of Vancouver that they see no future for pro hockey here. Brandon feels it can support the team and will fight to keep the franchise next season.

In that regard the Chamber of Commerce plans to honor Regal owner James Piggott of Saskatoon in the near future.

Oddly enough, one of the Cougars, Bill Davidson, will share top billing here tonight. It will be "SourisNight" and as Davidson is the only Souris player in the line-up, it is expected that the Cougars will have their share of supporters.

Special busses will make the trip from Souris, while army buses will transport other fans from Rivers.

Cougars Should Be Ready

Cougars should be well rested for this one. They entrained from Winnipeg Thursday morning and arrived here in early afternoon. Coach Eddie Olson made two radio appearances, as did club captain Colin Kilburn.

No serious injuries have developed. Arnott Whitney's bothersome ankle still gives him trouble but not enough to keep him out of the line-up.

Rookie Fred Wonoski, who played for the Cougars in Winnipeg Wednesday, will dress again tonight and at Calgary Saturday. If he shows as well as he did against the Warriors, he likely will turn professional.

General manager Lynn Patrick of the Boston Bruins will view tonight's game and then return to Boston.

He scouted Wednesday's contest and, though disappointed in some of the Bruin farmhands, expressed a liking for Nelson Bullock.

He was also impressed by the Doug Macauley-Doug Anderson-Colin Kilburn line, saying:

"That line makes better plays than most lines in the National Hockey League."

In Winnipeg, Thursday, it was a pot-pourri of the sporting world.

Football Faddist There, Too

The Fort Garry Hotel was crowded with the football fanatics of the country on the eve of the opening of the Western Inter-provincial and Big Four Football Union meetings.

Meanwhile, hockey scouts were almost as numerous as the spectators at a junior game in Winnipeg's Olympic Arena (inside temperature 10 below; outside 20 below).

Representing the Bruins was Lynn Patrick; the Rangers, Muzz Patrick; Providence, Terry Reardon; Montreal Canadiens, Spud Russell, plus those in the trade who are known as "bird dogs."

As usual, nothing, but nothing, came out of the huddled conferences.

However, the Saskatoon situation, as it concerns ex-coach Doug Bentley, who officially is on "holiday," may be straightened out by the week-end.

The Quakers play in Winnipeg Friday and Muzz Patrick will confer with Saskatoon officials on the problem.

Bentley, who actually quit the club when Jackie McLeod was named coach, has expressed a desire to finish out the season with another club.

But today the story is Brandon: The town's hopped up over its Regals, and according to all reports, the Regals are playing better hockey than ever, especially in their home rink. The Cougars hope to disprove this theory tonight.

Best Anglers of Year To Receive Trophies

Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will present nine fishing trophies won during the year at its annual general meeting Monday night at 8 at the Sirocco Supper Club.

Those winning awards this year are as follows:

Brock Whitney Trophy, for largest salmon caught by lady member during year: Mrs. R. McLeod, 34.4.

Household Finance Trophy, for largest salmon captured during ladder derby qualifying period, and final fishoff: Herb Neff, 44.2.

Melrose Cafe Trophy, Cy Bernard Trophy, diamond in gold button, for largest salmon caught during year: Herb Neff, 44.2.

Poodle Dog Cafe Trophy, for aggregate salmon of a button weight caught on a Wednesday, Saturday, Sunday and legal holiday during year: Bill Kirk, three salmon.

Woodward's Trophy, for largest salmon caught on ladder derby final fishoff day: Jack James, 23.2.

Ming's Kitchen Trophy, for largest salmon caught on duffers' ladder derby fishoff: Archie Campbell, 20.9.

Robinson's Trophy, for largest salmon caught on Wednesday from May to August: Winston Silver, 35.

Ian May Junior Trophy, for largest salmon caught by junior member: Ronnie Sadler Memorial Trophy, for largest salmon caught by a junior on junior derby day: Susan Humphries, 14.6.

Other business to be held at the meeting will include reports and statements for 1955, election of directors, and a discussion on a proposed change in the salmon catch limits in tidal waters to "not more than five grilse and five salmon to be taken in any one day." Present limit is not more than five salmon or more than 10 grilse, or more than 10 salmon and grilse in the aggregate.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The customary post-fight hassle involving a Sandy Saddler bout buzzed here Thursday in the wake of the featherweight champion's technical knockout of Filipino Flash Elorde Wednesday night.

Saddler kept his crown when referee Ray Flores, with ring physician Dr. Robert Laddon concurring, stopped the action at 59 seconds of the 13th round because of a severe cut over Elorde's left eye.

The ringside crowd, almost solidly behind the smaller challenger, greeted the ruling with boos. So, in effect, did Elorde and his manager-father-in-law Lope Sarreal. Both argued Thursday that Dr. Laddon's ruling was too hasty.

Silver division winner of the monthly medal round at Colwood Golf Club Thursday was Margaret Mahoney with 93-10-83. Winner of the bronze division was Mrs. H. E. Brown with 92-30-69.

DON GETS SHARPENED UP

Practice makes perfect, and Victoria's Don Hamilton, although with last-place Melville Millionaires in the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, keeps practicing and improving steadily. Don was an outstanding goalkeeper in minor hockey in Victoria and played goal last season for Drakes of the Commercial League before getting his chance with Melville.

U.S. Skater Injured; Olympic Hopes Jarred

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Tenley Albright, America's world figure skating queen, gashed her right leg in a skating accident Thursday, but insists she will make a bid for an Olympic gold medal.

The slim, 20-year-old ice ballerina from Newton Center, Mass., regarded as a virtual championship clinch, was practicing on Cortina's glazed rink when she struck a hole in the ice. As she fell, the sharp edge of her left skate struck her right leg above the ankle.

Dr. Giuseppe Gasparini, U.S. team physician, said there appeared to be no muscular or bone damage but Miss Albright suffered a "severe flesh wound." The cut did not require stitches. "It hurts but it doesn't seem real bad," Tenley said after receiving treatment. "I'll do what the doctors say, but I hope to be on skates again in a couple of days."

U.S. OUTCLASSED

The figure skating event is scheduled for Jan. 30 with Miss Albright and Hayes-Allyn Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., favored for the singles championships.

The American team's pre-Olympic trials have been marked by accidents and sub-par performances. The games open here next Thursday.

Katy Rodolph of Reno, Nev., a leading hopeful in the downhill skiing competition, suffered a fractured vertebra five days ago and is out of the games.

American bobsledders, skiers and skaters have been outclassed by the strong Russians, host Italians and the all-ways formidable Scandinavians in preliminary tests.

A powerful Russian speed skater, Oleg Goncharenko, won the 5,000-meter grind in the Swiss international championships at Davos Thursday in the track record time of 7 minutes 59.4 seconds.

A 19-year-old East German, Helmut Kuhnt, was a surprise second in 800, while the reigning world champion over the distance, Sigge Erickson, of Sweden, was third in 809.1.

America's best time was made by Pat McNamara, a Minneapolis landscaper, who registered 8:33.7 for 29th place.

LION VET RETURNS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Levenhagen, former Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star guard, has signed for his third season with British Columbia Lions. The move was announced Thursday. Contract terms were not disclosed.

BABY FOOD, NO SLEEP— IT'S CALLED ENTHUSIASM

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP)—Two Cornwall snow-shoe enthusiasts are planning a 168-mile non-stop hike from Sherbrooke, Que., to Lewiston, Me., for the opening of the International Snowshoers' Congress.

Arthur Blanchard, 24, and Marcel Turemme, 28, said they expect to leave Sherbrooke Tuesday. They hope to reach Lewiston Thursday, two days before the opening of the congress Jan. 28.

They said they will not stop for rest or sleep and plan to get along on a diet of baby food, honey and coffee while on the hike.

DUTCHIES WIN AGAIN

All Is Harmony In Olympic Puck

PRAGUE (CP)—An unaccustomed degree of harmony attending the pre-games warm-ups is beginning to suggest that the Olympic hockey championships may be run off with considerably less international friction than the world championships of the last few years.

Canada's Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen defeated Czechoslovakia's B team 10-1 Thursday, drawing nothing but cheers from the Prague fans and not a single penalty from the referees.

The previous night, the Dutchmen had received only a single minor and another round of Czech applause in downing the same side, 9-1.

In another exhibition game at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, site of next week's games, Russia defeated Italy, 10-2, with only two penalties being awarded.

While it is possible that the sticks may go up as the chips go down in actual tournament play, the Dutchmen headed for Italy with considerably friendlier press notices than were received by their immediate predecessors in international competition.

Both Penitton Vs, who won the world title in Germany last year, and Toronto East York, who lost to the Russians in Sweden in 1954, aroused disapproving comment with their robust tactics in pre-tournament exhibition play.

IMPECCABLE CONDUCT

But ever since they sat out 25 minutes in penalties and drew lusty boos from the crowd in their 6-5 victory over Paisley Pirates of the Scottish League last Monday, the Dutchmen's rink deportment has been impeccable, even by exacting European standards.

Basilio Named Fighter of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmen Basilio, world welterweight champion, received the Edward J. Neil plaque as "fighter of the year" for 1955 Thursday night at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Association.

Basilio, the rugged slugger from Canastota, N.Y., who won the title from Tony DeMarco and defended it successfully, accepted the plaque from Murray Rose, Associated Press writer.

Straths Must Clear $1,500 Cash Hurdle

Summer Loop Sets Entry; Hendry Boss

Only one thing, a matter of $1,500 in cash, stands between Victoria soccer fans and a team in the new summer Coast Soccer League.

At a meeting in Vancouver Thursday night, members of the present, seven-team league, scheduled to fold on Feb. 11, voted to retain five teams, including Victoria Strathconas, and switch to a summer soccer schedule.

The meeting was called to urge Jack Hendry, president of National Football Association, to take over the reins of the soccer on the coast, and make it into a "big-time" operation.

Hendry accepted a two-year term as head of the new league, on some stipulations. One of them was posting of a $1,500 entry fee in cash for new teams in the league.

Victoria, who last week opposed a $500 entry fee and $1,000 bond, also opposed this figure, cut down from Hendry's original $2,500 demand, but the motion was passed.

Club executive declined to state definitely today whether the amount would or could be raised to allow Strathconas in on the new setup.

WILL CALL MEETING

Executive member Bob Davison, who had to leave the Vancouver meeting early, said today that "we have until Feb. 11 to file our entry in the new league, and we actually don't have to decide until then. The club will have to call a meeting to decide."

Feeling is, however, that if the cash can be raised, Victoria will be in the new league. It is reported that some new sponsors are being sought to help bolster the club finances.

The dynamic Hendry, taking over the helm of the league Thursday night, told the meeting that he was out to put soccer on a high level on the coast to put it on a par with the National League in the east.

He felt that the high entry fee would give each team an actual interest in the league and an interest in an investment that must be protected.

Hendry will allow his term as president of the National Football Association to run out on its expiry date, March 30.

Voting was carried out in a secret ballot at the meeting to weed out the two unwanted clubs presently in the league. It was decided that four mainland teams and one from Vancouver Island would comprise the league.

TWO DROPPED

Voting showed that the four mainland teams left in the league were New Westminster Royals, Vancouver Halecos, North Shore United and St. Andrews Pilemeters and Firefighters voted out of the league, will have first chance to re-enter should one of the other teams drop out.

Victoria is, of course, the island team in the league, should they decide to enter.

Tentative schedule has been set to start April 14 and end Sept. 30.

A four-man league executive will also be set up, comprising a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Hendry, who had been approached by the league to take over as secretary-manager, would be the actual "boss" of the circuit. He said Thursday night, however, that he strongly favored Bob Paton, present president of the loop, to be retained in that position.

Meanwhile, the present winter schedule will run out its string, with Strathconas to meet the ill-fated Pilemeters at Athletic Park Saturday at 2.

It will be the first league meeting of the two clubs. Pilemeters, who defeated Victoria, 4-3, in an exhibition match last October, can take over first place in the standings with a win while the Strathconas are seeking their third victory of the season against two losses.

Victoria line-up will be as follows:

Pete Winter in goal; Bill Hope and John Pickburn; Harold Holroyd; Joe Robbins and Willie Hamilton; Ced Robb, John Weir, Tom Druce, George Wright, Ken Hobbart. Reserves will be Bill Abbott, Murray Bowler, Charlie Mills, Leroy Bond, Ernie Eastlake, John Moss and Jim McGhee.

VICTORIA'S NEWEST COUGAR

Fred Wonoski, left, a junior from the Barrie Flyers, talks to coach Hap Emms, right, before joining the Victoria Cougars in Winnipeg for a three-game try-out. Wonoski, a centre, picked up an assist in his first game. (See Bill Walker's It's My View).

MEET FARMERS NEXT

Drakes Gain Semi; Knock Off Nomads

Drakes swept through Nomads, 51-45, Thursday night at Central Junior High School gym to gain the right to meet Farmer Construction in the semifinals of the Senior B Men's Basketball League playoffs next week.

Drakes' victory gave them the two-game total-point series, 94-85, and sent Nomads down to their eighth straight loss of the season.

Nomads started off fast and at halftime led 29-24, for a series lead of 69-67. But the Drakes took command in the final 20 minutes to outscore the losers, 27-16.

Pete Turko dropped 17 points through the hoop for Drakes to lead both teams in scoring. Paul Simpson of Nomads followed with a 15-point total.

MEET FARMERS

Drakes will meet Farmer Construction next Tuesday night at Central gym in the first game of their semifinal, with the series winner to meet undefeated Dickinson & Dunn in the final.

In preliminary games Thursday night, Eagles knocked out Brentwood juvenile girls, 28-20, and Brentwood bantams retail 30 top United States professionals.

Balding, who will tee off in the $15,000 invitational golf tournament next week, will be up against 30 top United States professionals.

THE SCOREBOARD BY Harry Grayson

NEW YORK (NEA) — Judging by the funeral effect Johnny Podres' impending induction into the armed forces had in Brooklyn, you'd suspect that the Dodgers were going to play all 77 home games in Jersey City next season.

You'd think that Walter Alston would have to pitch the bat boy, peanut butchers, ushers and such.

This recalls a chat with Moe Berg after the World Series last fall. The talk centred, naturally, on young Podres, but the old American League catcher made an interesting observation.

Clem Labine

"Do you recall the fifth game at Ebbets Field?" asked Berg. "It was then that I got the idea that the Brooklyn staff was turning into a machine which would clip the National League for the next five years."

Professor Berg was referring to the way Roger Craig had fired away at the Yankees with no more regard for the erstwhile Bombers than for the first-time players.

In the book of Berg and a lot of other baseball men, those were the best six innings of the series. With the set locked at two and two and the clubs returning to Yankee Stadium, where the Dodgers again would face Whitey Ford and Tommy Byrne, this game was a must.

Don Bessent and Craig coming in from Triple A in mid-July to win 13 games between them while losing only 4, gives you an idea of the freshness of the Brooklyn staff. The two of them won five games in their first eight days on the premises. The bespectacled Bessent had an 8 and 1 record, led the club with an earned-run average of 2.71.

Brooklyn Has the Right-Handers

Brooklyn has the right-handers, Don Newcombe, Carl Erskine, Billy Loos, Bessent, Craig, Labine and Ed Roebuck, and the left-handers, Karl Spooner, Sandy Koufax, Ken Lehman and Charley Templeton. That's one more than will be carried and Chazzy Bavasi could make a beneficial deal for the one who isn't.

Erskine, 29, should bounce back like an election repeater. He won 20 in 1953, 18 in '54, reports that the soreness has disappeared from his elbow.

Lehman has won 31 games since last April—in the International League, the playoffs and Santo Domingo. Templeton is a large 23-year-old who bagged 14 for the sixth-place St. Paul outfit.

Johnny Podres had nothing more than a 9 and 10 record and ERA of 3.96 before finding himself in the World Series. The Brooklyn front office is vastly more concerned about the 1956 form of four aging infielders and outfielders than it is about its surplus of pitching.

Nobody likes to lose a Podres, that's for sure. But to say his absence will cripple the Dodgers is silly. The Brooks have pitchers to pass around—and, as we should see in '56, all good ones, too.

Gordie Goes Great; Wings Follow Suit

Detroit 4, Boston 2
Montreal 3, Toronto 1

As Gordie Howe goes, so go Detroit Red Wings. That seems to be the case lately around the National Hockey League.

The big right winger was never better this season than Thursday night when he scored three goals and set up the other in Wings' sixth straight win, a 4-2 contest over Boston Bruins at Detroit.

The four points lifted Howe, who has produced 12 goals in Detroit's last eight games, to the top of the league's individual scoring race. He overtook Jean Beliveau despite the center's two-goal show as Montreal Canadiens defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 at Montreal in the other engagement.

Howe has 25 goals and 25 assists for 50 points. Beliveau's 49 points consist of 25 goals and 24 assists.

The third-place Wings moved to within two points of New York Rangers, who have 51 points. Canadiens stretched their lead over the Rangers to five games.

HOWE THIRD

Howe, whose three-goal outburst was the first turned in by a Detroit player this season, now is only four goals away from the select 300-goal circle. Only Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal, hockey's greatest scorer, and Neil Stewart, a former great with Canadiens, exceed Howe. Richard has 445 goals in regular season play and Stewart scored 324 during his career.

Ted Lindsay scored Detroit's goal. Vic Stasiuk and Marcel Bonin scored for Boston in the opening frame.

Canadiens' win, before 13,738 fans, was their second in as many nights over Leafs. Leafs, tied with Chicago Black Hawks for fourth place, managed only 11 shots on goal.

Right winger Bernie Geoffrion was the other Montreal marksman. Left winger Bert Olmstead, the league's top play-maker with 3 assists, set up both goals by Beliveau. Ted Sloan scored his 26th goal and maintained his lead as the top goal scorer in the league.

WILLIAMS HAS $70,000, MAY GO FOR $110,000

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams has been offered another salary boost by Boston Red Sox—and the guessing game is under way again.

General manager Joe Cronin told writers Wednesday that pay increases are included in contracts sent out to "99 per cent" of the members of last year's team, which finished fourth.

Williams, who hit .356 and slammed 28 homers in 98 games, is among those in line for a salary boost. Guesses on the actual figures ranged up to $110,000—an amount which Cronin refused to confirm or deny. The big slugger is reported to have drawn $70,000 after joining the club in mid-May last year.

Common Draft Aim As Grid Loops Meet

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prospects for a common draft of American college players for Canada's two professional football leagues appeared bright today as the Western Interprovincial Football Union and the eastern Big Four opened a four-day session.

Souchak Leads Caliente Open

TIJUANA, Mex. (UPI)—The second round of the Caliente Open Golf Tournament got underway today with a fine field following on the heels of big Mike Souchak, the former Duke football player.

No matters what happens in the next three days, Souchak already is a winner. He collected $250 Thursday for breaking the course record as he fired a seven-under-par 65 on a championship layout.

Despite his fine performance, Souchak doesn't have much of a lead. He is two strokes in front of the rest of the star-studded field. At 67 came Ralph Blomquist, Glendale, Calif., and Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., a pair of seasoned professionals, and 20-year-old Rod Funsteth, a slender long-ball hitter from Spokane, Wash., who is an amateur.

At 68 came Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., and amateur Tim Holland, Miami, Fla. The professionals at 69 were Fred Haas, Claremont, Calif.; Walker Inman, Augusta, Ga.; Bo Winniger, Oklahoma City; Ted Rhodes, Los Angeles; and Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn.

Calgary Players Festival Winners

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—Workshop 14 of Calgary, one of the best drama organizations in Canada, won its third straight Alberta Drama Festival crown Thursday night for its presentation of Charles Morgan's "The River Line."

Adjudicator Pamela Stirling presented the Calvert Trophy and cheque for $100 to production manager Gordon Gibbs, who directed the cast in the absence of regular director Betty Mitchell. Miss Mitchell suffered a foot injury last week and was unable to leave Calgary.

"The River Line" beat six other entries for the best play award. The best actor award and best visual presentation award went to Walter Kaasa of Edmonton who acted the title role in "Mr. Arcularis," presented by the University of Alberta Alumni Studio A.

Kaasa was compared to the great English actor Alec Guinness. "The pathos, poetry, dramatic quality that Walter Kaasa achieved as Mr. Arcularis reminded me very much of Alec Guinness," Miss Stirling said. "So much depended on his performance and he didn't let anyone down."

CENTRES ON IMMIGRANT'S WOES

New Drama by Regina Man. Gets First Test at Festival

REGINA (CP)—A new Canadian play will be staged for a new theatrical group as one of the two productions in the Saskatchewan Drama Festival opening here tonight.

The New Studio Players, a Regina group formed a year ago to present "experimental" plays by Canadian authors, will offer the first test of "The Abiding Earth," by Regina author and musician Neil Harris.

The lack of entries is attributed by Muriel Clements, New Studio director, to the rash of pageants and plays staged as part of last summer's golden jubilee year celebrations in Saskatchewan.

"Apparently a lot of the community groups are still trying to catch their breath after the jubilee," she said. "We usually have entries from North Battleford, Yorkton and Prince Albert. Saskatchewan's Little Theatre group dropped by the wayside a few years ago and for some reason hasn't come back to the fold."

Only other festival entry is J. B. Priestly's "Dangerous Corner," with which the Regina Little Theatre group will open the festival. It is a comedy of British sophisticates.

The play, to be presented Saturday night, relates the woes of a European immigrant who is unable or unwilling to adapt himself to the Canadian way of life. A farmer, he refuses to pay income tax.

Ice Show Try-Outs Start Today at 4

Auditions for local skaters who want to join the Ice Capades touring ice show were scheduled for 4 p.m. today and again following the evening performance.

Show manager Phil Taylor said there is an excellent chance for Victorians this year because at present there are no skaters from this district in the show.

He said both Ice Capades and Ice Cycles like to have a skater from every centre on the circuit. It's considered good publicity.

There are nine Vancouver skaters in the show, including Marshall Garrett, one of the stars. Applicants need bring nothing but their own skates to auditions.

TALL BOYS
Girls trying out must be between 16 and 21 and about five feet to five feet two inches tall. Boys should be from 16 to 24 and range in height close to the six-foot mark, with a minimum of five feet eight.

How are the Names of Automatic Telephone Exchanges Selected?

Perhaps you've wondered how the names of automatic telephone exchanges are chosen. Why names such as Lakeview and Mutual? Why not names of local or historical significance? The fact is, in order to provide a uniform, continent-wide basis for present and future telephone planning, it is no longer practical to select names having local or geographical significance.

Nowadays, new exchange names are almost always selected from a carefully prepared list used by the major telephone companies throughout Canada and the United States. Besides adopting new exchange names, all communities participating in this plan must follow a new method of numbering. All telephone numbers must eventually consist of two letters and five figures—for example: LAkeview 2-1234.

These new names and numbers are a further step toward the objective of telephone engineers in both countries—a plan that foresees any telephone user dialing practically any telephone number in Canada or the United States without the services of an operator.

Legislation For Sunday Sport Urged

Opposition Leader Arnold Webster told the Social Credit government Thursday it "cannot ignore" the request of Vancouver voters for legislation to legalize commercial sports on Sundays.

Mr. Webster, speaking in the Throne Speech debate in the Legislature, said a clear majority of voters approved legalization of paid sports events in afternoon hours on Sunday.

"The merits of Sunday sport are not for us to determine," he said. "Vancouver has made up its mind about a major sociological problem."

"A clear majority of the citizens who went to the polls last December voted in favor of a change in present regulations. Their wishes cannot be ignored without doing violence to the principles of democratic decision."

There have been reports the government will not put through Sunday sport legislation for Vancouver, but rather, will submit the question to a test in the courts.

No mention was made of the subject in the Throne Speech. Mr. Webster mentioned the slowness of the majority in the Sunday sport plebiscite. But he said, "when a community of Canadians agree to submit a controversial question to popular vote, the size of the majority has nothing to do with it."

"An inch should be as good as a mile. Certainly we in this Legislature are thankful that this principle is never questioned at election time," he joked.

Private Funeral Set For Veteran Mariner

A private funeral service for Capt. Edward W. Kelly, 87, who died here Thursday, will be held Saturday at 1 a.m. from Haywards.

One of the last of the old-time sea captains, the former superintendent of Rithet docks sailed the world before the days of steam.

Born 350 miles inland from Calcutta, India, he ended active seafaring in 1913 and came here to stay.

Capt. Kelly started his sailing career in London in 1883, shipping out as a cabin boy for Buenos Aires.

Among survivors are his wife, Caroline, at home, 95 Moss; two daughters (Mrs. J. M. Fowler and Mrs. Percy A. Moir), both of Victoria; a son (Frank), of Vancouver; and five grandchildren.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy.

Andy, who is a little, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by quick readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 30-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of The American Peoples Encyclopedia to Ira Soller, aged 14, of Brooklyn, N.Y., for his question:

How Does Radar Work?

An old sailing ship sent a man aloft in the rigging. His job was to scan the horizon for land, passing ships and gathering storms. Today, a great ship carries a more dependable look-out. It looks like a huge wire bowl held on its side by a mast. A spike sticks horizontally from its center. In port, the ribbed disc rests pointing in one direction.

At sea, the disc swings constantly around on its mast like a giant eye scanning the horizon. Which is exactly what it is. It is the ships radar scanner. Through densest fog and darkest night it reports what it "sees" to a radar screen below. And it sees everything worth seeing. Land, islands, mountains, ships, planes, icebergs and storm clouds appear in silhouette as the scanner reports all solid objects as far as the horizon.

Radar, a British Second World War invention, is coined from the words radio, direction and ranging. It is powered with a beam of high frequency radio — maybe ten thousand million cycles a second. Such power is generated from electric impulses and magnetism. The power is beamed out from the antenna. The antenna pulses for maybe a millionth part of a second. Then it rests for perhaps a thousandth part of a second. Then it pulses again. The position of the silhouette of a solid object on the screen gives its direction. The time between impulse and picture gives its distance.

The beam from the antenna travels in a straight line until it meets a solid, or fairly solid object. It travels at 186,000 miles a second. When it hits something solid it does a right about turn. It bounces off clouds, ships and landmarks and returns with an echo to its ending station. The echo arrives back between the sending impulses. The further the object, the longer the echo takes to return. The echo of a plane 93 miles away returns in a thousandth part of a second. The beam and the return echo take that much time to make the round trip of 186 miles.

The radio echoes are translated into beams of light. These build the light and dark pictures that appear on the radar screen. The silhouette pictures sweep around the screen in time with the spinning antenna like the fast second hand on a watch.

Different objects form different shadings on the radar screen. A plane can use radar to get an accurate picture of a coastline even when the pilot can see only a carpet of clouds below him. Ground radar can guide a plane to safe landing even in a pea soup fog. Army planes can use radar to spot certain buildings they want to bomb.

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Ronnie J. Berry, aged 10, of Tucson, Arizona for his question:

How long did it take Columbus to sail from Spain to America?

The three little ships set forth at dawn. It was the morning of Aug. 3, 1492. The admiral of the little fleet was Christopher Columbus. The ships were the Nina, the Pinta and his ship the Santa Maria. Only the great sailor himself was full of faith and hope for the voyage. And not even he guessed that it was to be the most famous ocean voyage in the history of the whole world.

It was necessary to put into the Canary Islands for repairs. The Pinta had lost her rudder when only three days out from the home port of Palos harbor. This caused some delay. The little fleet did not leave the Canaries until Sept. 9, 37 days after leaving Spain.

The rest of the journey was across wide uncharted stretches of the Atlantic Ocean. Time after time the crew wanted to turn about, so full of fear were they. Somehow Columbus held them in line. Land was sighted at 2 a.m. on the morning of Oct. 12, 1492. The seaman who first saw it was named Rodrigo de Triana. The fearful voyage over the strange part of the ocean had taken 33 days. Altogether, with the stop-over in the Canaries, the famous voyage took 60 days.

MARGARET ESCORTED BY YOUNG CLERGYMAN

CAMBRIDGE, Eng. (Reuters)—Princess Margaret and the Queen Mother, on a private visit to this university town, had lunch Wednesday with Rev. Simon Phipps, a frequent escort of the Princess.

Mr. Phipps, 33, tall and good-looking, is chaplain of Trinity College, Cambridge.

He has been a friend of 25-year-old Margaret since their childhood days when his father was a gentleman usher at the court of the late King George VI.

Less than two weeks ago the Princess attended a Twelfth Night gala at the Sadler's Wells Theatre with Mr. Phipps.

'GREATEST CANADIAN UPRISING...'

'Tamburlaine' Wows Broadway Critics

NEW YORK—"The greatest Canadian uprising this continent has ever seen" is the tribute given by New York Daily News critic John Chapman to the Canadian production of Christopher Marlowe's "Tamburlaine" which opened in the Winter Garden Theatre here Thursday night.

United Press drama editor Jack Gaver called it "a presentation on the grand scale such as the American non-musical stage hasn't seen in close to 30 years."

The New York Times termed it "a triumphant theatre occasion."

Brooks Atkinson of the Times said: "If 'Tamburlaine' remains just this side of the egregious, it is because director Tyrone Guthrie knows when to stop piling Ossa on Pelion. Moreover the company has a real flair for classical acting on a big scale. It knows how to move in a sweeping style and how to speak verse with resonance, euphony and conviction. The actors who have seen it in its own tent in Ontario during the summer recognize it as the soundest classical comedy in North America; and it's a pleasure to have a visit here during the winter."

ENORMOUS AGILITY

British actor Anthony Quayle and "Tamburlaine" are well matched in Marlowe's prize-winning play. The part is bellowing and flamboyant. Made up like an Asiatic tyrant, Mr. Quayle plays with enormous agility and physical prowess... an able actor, Mr. Quayle has a big part under control. The excesses are Marlowe's, not his."

A distinguished audience, including diplomats from the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth nations, were on hand to view the first night performance by Canada's famed Stratford Players. Before the performance the players were honored at a reception at the

Socred's School Policy Defended

Education Minister Ray Williston Thursday denied the Department of Education is "dictating" to British Columbia's school boards.

And he told the legislature "I have 99 per cent support for the program which is moving at the present time."

Mr. Williston was replying to charges by CCF leader Arnold Webster, to the effect that school trustees throughout B.C. are "thwarted and frustrated" by increasing centralization of control in the department of education in Victoria.

"We don't want to tell the school boards what to do at all—but I have the job of distributing provincial money equally, and anything the boards want to do over that is their own responsibility," said Mr. Williston.

The minister explained the purpose of the department's school building program.

He said it set "approved standards," to guarantee reasonable economy, and to ensure all school districts received equal treatment.

He said that if local boards wanted to exceed the standards laid down in the building manual, the government would not provide its 50 per cent share of construction costs over the basic standard of $8.75 a square foot.

Vancouver officials have charged this procedure is lowering school standards in Vancouver. They say it provides provincial funds sufficient only for construction of frame buildings, while city by-laws require construction of concrete schools.

Mr. Williston said Vancouver school building costs were the highest of any city in the province, and that the situation there is not as critical as in other parts of the province.

He described the effect of the new education finance formula, which will have been in operation for one year on April 1. Of a total of $59,754,087, representing the capital and operating budgets of all school districts in 1955 the provincial government paid $7.13 per cent, or $34,137,781.

For "approved" operating costs alone, he said, government grants covered 62.54 per cent of the total amount budgeted and approved.

"The educational grants for 1955 were some $4,200,000 more than combined direct and indirect grants in 1954," said Mr. Williston. He added that the

"I'VE GOT NEWS FOR YOU!"

The Newspaper Brings You the Full Story; Without Which Knowledge Life Would Not Be Complete!

There is good news and bad news, important news and unimportant news. There is news that marks the ending of a happy life, and news that marks the beginning of a life that may be the answer to some of the world's problems.

A newspaper records the good and the bad, the important and frequently the unimportant.

A newspaper judges the value of the news on the basis of its importance and how many people are affected. A newspaper would like to print only the good news. But one that printed only the news of good events, of pleasant subjects, of constructive acts, would not give a true picture of life. For life is not all good, not all pleasant, not all constructive.

And that is the ultimate aim of every good newspaper—to give an accurate, complete and fair account of the daily events in the world and of the people around us.

THE NEWSPAPER IS THE ONLY LOCAL NEWS MEDIUM THAT IS THOROUGH, DEPENDABLE AND SATISFYING!
And—it costs so little YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT IT!

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

Have to hand a letter from a kindly constituent, name of Edward Harris, Ferndale road, who agrees with my attitude toward the status quo.

In case you don't know my attitude toward the status quo, it is this; the status is much too quo.

And this attitude is what Mr. Harris agrees with.

Mr. Harris says the way things are, it is much darker at night than it is in the daytime.

Mr. Harris doesn't feel this is fair, although he does not make it clear whether it is the night-time or the daytime being discriminated against.

Mr. Harris does not say so, but I am sure he is also brooding over the corollary to this unfair situation, namely, it is usually lighter in the daytime than the night-time.

These two situations, taken in juxtaposition, are bound to lead to inferiority complexes both day and night as well as night and day.

Mr. Harris, continuing his attack on the status as she is quod, also points out how much warmer it is in the summer than in the winter, and wishes to know if this is in the spirit of British fair play?

I can only answer no, it is not, except in Australia where it is winter in summer, but then Australia has different standards of fair play.

I am very pleased to welcome Mr. Harris to the small and very select group (so far he and I are the only members) who would like to see the status un-quod.

There is, for instance, the question of salt being not nearly as sweet as sugar. In our house, we have partially solved this by putting sugar in the salt shakers and salt in the sugar bowl, but we feel this is only a temporary expedient at best.

Another unfair situation under the status quo (I am sure Mr. Harris and all other right-thinking constituents will agree with me in this) is the roses-violets contemps. Roses are red and violets are blue, but I don't know why—do you?

If you were a violet, wouldn't you get tired of being blue all the time? Let us throw the status quo out the window, and arrange for blue roses, red violets, Merry New Year, Happy Christmas, New Lang Syne, what goes down must come up, three is company but two's a crowd, and two floogels in every garage.

If Mr. Harris and I have our way, we'll see that the new order changeth and giveth way to old.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Careless driving charges brought fines of $35 each for two men when they appeared in city police court today.

Edward V. Salter, 3276 Linwood, was convicted on a charge arising from a two-car accident at Vancouver and View on Jan. 4, resulting in damages of $425.

Court was told Daniel James Dore, 1921 Chambers, was in collision with a car at Vancouver while driving east on View, Jan. 8.

Fine of $25 or five days in jail was imposed in city police court today on Sidney A. Carr, 42, charged with obtaining lodgings and $10 cash by means of a worthless cheque Nov. 22.

Police said he gave a downtown hotel proprietor a $25 worthless cheque, $15 for which was to cover a hotel bill.

Court was told restitution has been made to the proprietor.

Social Credit MLA Hugh Shantz of North Okanagan is as proud as punch today, as a father and as a prognosticator.

All this week, he has been telling fellow MLAs the baby was sure to be a boy. A telegram this morning confirmed his prediction.

Two Victorians were fined in RCMP court this morning for fishing at Goldstream Sunday without licences.

Gordon Edward Brown, 2340 Trent, was fined $10 and $5.50 costs, and Ray Hodgkinson, 2510 Douglas, $10 and $3 costs.

Charges were laid by Game Warden Bob Sinclair.

Ball was set at $50 in city police court today for Colin Bottoms, 21, 3 Erie, charged with assaulting Kari Gunderson, 406 Simcoe, Thursday night.

He was remanded without plea to Tuesday.

W. Egland, Cordova Bay, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs or seven days in jail when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of failing to file an income tax return for the taxation year 1954.

John Russell Bean, HMCS Stetler, and Edward R. Baird, 1238 Pandora, each were fined $30 or five days in jail when they pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to exceeding 50 mph speed limits on Patricia Bay Highway.

Charge of driving without a licence Jan. 8 on Wilkinson Road brought a fine of $25 or five days in jail for A. Rousseau, 235 Belleville, when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday.

Opposition Leader Arnold Webster charged Thursday that school boards throughout B.C. are "thwarted and frustrated" in dealing with the department of education.

Mr. Webster, a Vancouver school principal before he entered politics, took up the issue raised at the annual convention of B.C. School Trustees' Association at Qualicum Beach last September—"increasing centralization of control of B.C.'s education system."

"Education will suffer in British Columbia if trustees continue to feel thwarted and frustrated," said Mr. Webster. "I doubt if any official policy of this department over the years has ever been so strongly condemned by the trustees of this province."

He quoted from a resolution passed at the convention:

"Whereas it may be inferred from the new policy that the department of education lack confidence in local boards,

"And whereas such excessive centralization is detrimental to the administration of education in this province:

"Be it resolved that the Department of Education be requested to restore to the local education authorities a much larger degree of control over administrative matters which, as elected representatives of the taxpayers, they have previously enjoyed."

LIGHT'S OUT FOR FRASER SAVER

Sandheads lightship, for years famed "sea mark" at Fraser's mouth, arrived here in tow and was taken to Foster's Shipyard Thursday, where machinery will be removed. She was damaged in November gale when she ran aground on sand bar she guarded. She will be replaced by fixed navigation aid and her fog siren installed elsewhere. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Oliver Heads Federal Secrecy In Victoria

Kenneth Oliver, Oak Bay, was named president at the Social Credit organizational meeting for the federal riding of Victoria, held Thursday in McEwen's restaurant.

Named first vice-president was J. D. Johnson, Victoria; second vice-president, Elmer McEwen, Victoria; third vice-president, A. L. Merriam, Victoria; fourth vice-president, W. H. Golby, Oak Bay; fifth vice-president, J. G. Sadler, Esquimalt; and sixth vice-president, Joe McRoberts, Saanich.

B.C. Social Credit League president Noel J. Murphy spoke on the theme "Be Prepared," dealing with what he termed advantages of electing a Secrecy government in Ottawa.

The film, "The Voice of the Deep," will be shown at the Free Methodist Church, 1620 Cook, tonight at 8 p.m. It is in sound and full color. Produced by the Moody Bible Institute of Science "The Voice of the Deep" records the "conversation" of fish and presents the wonders of under-water life.

A 20-year-old man critically injured in a fatal "hot-rod" accident has been unconscious for 12 days.

Authorities at St. Joseph's Hospital said today that Frank Richard Lapp, 1325 Lang, was in critical condition.

He was injured in an early-morning crash Jan. 8 in which John William Hitchin, 23, 1955 Kings, was killed.

Sangha Sam was fined $15 or three days in jail when he pleaded guilty Thursday in Saanich police court to a charge of failing to obey a fire marshal's order that a tin chimney be removed from a house.

Fine of $35 or five days in jail was imposed in Saanich police court Thursday on William R. Foster, 1354 Beach Drive, convicted on a careless driving charge.

Police said the charge arose following a recent accident as Foster was driving south on Patricia Bay Highway near Royal Oak Cemetery and attempting to pass other vehicles. They said he forced one vehicle off the road.

W. Egland, Cordova Bay, was fined $25 and $2.50 costs or seven days in jail when he pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of failing to file an income tax return for the taxation year 1954.

Coast Road Contract Awarded

$500,000 Cost For 8.3 Miles

More than $500,000 will be spent by B.C. Forest Products Ltd. on the construction of 8.3 miles of road beside Kennedy Lake, which will become part of the 45-mile west coast road between Alberni and Tofino-Ucluelet.

A contract has been awarded to A. C. McEachern Limited of Vancouver. Work will start later this month, and is expected to take two years to complete.

The road will be built under terms of a forest management licence granted B.C. Forest Products, and will constitute a giant step forward in the ultimate plan to link Tofino and Ucluelet into the main road system of Vancouver Island.

MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. property will be crossed in the Sproat Lake region, and the government is responsible for the remainder, between Sutton Pass and the mouth of Kennedy River.

According to engineers and survey parties who have worked on the project, the Kennedy Lake stretch will be the most difficult and spectacular pieces of road to be built on Vancouver Island.

About 75 per cent of the work will be on rock, and many points will be blasted out of the sheer cliffs that make up the shoreline of Kennedy Lake.

The road will be on the southeast shore, and will take the motorist through some of the finest scenery on the island. It will have an 18-foot gravelled surface.

Mr. Werry in a counter-suit, claimed damages amounting to $548 from the company. He alleges that the firm failed to do a competent job on his furs and as a result he lost some of his customers.

The suit and counter action is being heard before Judge J. B. Clearhue in County Court. R. D. Plommer, Vancouver lawyer, is representing the firm, while P. J. Sinnott is acting as counsel for Mr. Werry.

Borrowing Limits To Be Increased

Borrowing powers of the B.C. Power Commission will be increased at the current session of the Legislature.

Amount of the increase has not been revealed. The commission now is empowered to borrow up to $10,000,000, and so far has borrowed about $80,000,000.

The borrowing limit must be increased to enable the BCPC to plan long in advance its hydro-electric developments.

Although only seven months in operation, the Armed Services Leave Centre here, 1314-A Government, is receiving "interested scrutiny from official sources in Ottawa," retiring president Logan Mayhew told the first annual meeting Thursday.

Other cities are also interested in the idea, particularly those where large numbers of service personnel are stationed, he said.

"It is felt in these centres to be a good idea and well worth copying."

Named president for the forthcoming year was Cyril Wightman; vice-president, Courtney Haddock; honorary treasurer, G.

F. Dunn, and honorary secretary, Ralph B. Mathews.

"Assistance has come from all sides," said Mr. Mayhew. "Furnishings and building materials have been donated, transportation, contractor's free assistance and 'perhaps more important than anything, almost 100 per cent of the labor to renovate these premises came free from members of the armed services in volunteer off-duty hours."

The centre is not a hostel, as such, but was planned to be a convenient rendezvous, an office from which activities could emanate—a "cross roads" where armed service personnel and civilians could meet.

Dances have been arranged

Ex-MLA Again President Of Saanich CCF

Saanich high school teacher and former MLA Frank Snowsell was returned as president of the Saanich CCF Association at a meeting Thursday night at Douglas Street CCF Hall.

Four directors named are Dr. J. M. Thomas, B. H. Johns, Hans Myhre and Ed Harrison. Each will serve three years.

Annual reports were made to the meeting by Mr. Snowsell, Dr. Thomas, who was also returned as financial secretary; J. Massie for buildings and grounds; Les Passmore for dance committee; Mrs. M. E. Smith on rentals; and Mrs. J. M. Thomas on the Women's Council cloak room concession.

Mr. Snowsell reported 1955 as one of the busiest for the congress, much of the time devoted to legislative activity. He said one of the great problems has been complete revision of the Unemployment Insurance Act, "and all of the difficulties have not been resolved as yet."

Mr. Cushing reported 1955 as one of the busiest for the congress, much of the time devoted to legislative activity. He said one of the great problems has been complete revision of the Unemployment Insurance Act, "and all of the difficulties have not been resolved as yet."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Tasty Candy Menageries
Always Thrill Youngsters

By PENNY SAVER

Animal crackers! There's a strange fascination that moppets seem to have for these many-shaped biscuits. I guess they set young imaginations whirling to thoughts of circuses, zoos and the wilds of Africa. Each biscuit is the key to that wonderful world of "Pretend," where chocolate lions roar, and crispy sweet-tasting monkeys swing from sugar-coated trees. What fun!

It all begins with a package of animal crackers. They've been the children's favorite goody for years and years, and they'll probably be around for some time longer. The familiar box with the small string handle holds a whole menagerie, for 30 cents. A larger box, of a different make, holds a complete stock of animals for nibbling. This one's 31 cents, and another type costs 14 cents for two boxes.

Still in the goodies department, I found Dutch cake that looks very delicious. I couldn't convince the salesgirl that a taste of the rich-looking cake would give me a better description so I'll just tell you what it looks like, and perhaps you'd like to buy some and try it yourself. The cake de luxe, 15 ounces of it wrapped in cellophane paper, costs 55 cents. It's cut in slab form, so you can see the moistness, and the syrupy liquid that clings to the air bubbles. Another cake, called honeycake, is a caramel color, and has a more solid look to it. This one is 48 cents. It looks as if it would taste super with ice cream or a light sherbert.

You have a good choice of potatoes on the local markets, right now. New potatoes are three pounds for 35 cents, and the thicker skinned ones are 10 pounds for 59 cents, and five pounds for a quarter.

Sprouts are 27 cents a pound, and spinach is 25 cents a package. Parsnips, at two pounds for 35 cents, would taste good with tomorrow's dinner, and for that touch of color, prepare carrots, which are selling in bulk at two pounds for 29 cents.

Large stalks of celery are 30 cents, and as the size goes down, so does the price, to 25 and 17 cents. Green onions are two bunches for 25 cents right now and lettuce is 15 and 20 cents a head. Swiss chard is 15 cents a pound, and very tasty for a change in diet.

Mandarin oranges are going down. They're now $1.25 a box. Sweet tangelo oranges are in town, at three for a quarter. For your supply of citrus fruits, take advantage of the large sale that one Victoria company is having. A good chance to stock up on the fruit that has diminished during the past week.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I saw the foods mentioned today.

Guild Makes $55—A showing of films and tea netted the sum of $55 for St. Matthew's Women's Guild last Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. Alfred Doncaster, Victoria, showed colored slides on her recent trip to England. Mrs. D. G. F. Bullen, guild president, introduced the speaker and also gave the vote of thanks. Tea was served, buffet style, from a table arranged with yellow candles set in green ivy. Mrs. W. Sims and broidery, iron-ons, toys and Mrs. A. J. Ashdown were in charge novelties! Send 25 cents for your copy of this wonderful Moore, Mrs. George Robertson and book now. WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This hip exercise has four movements—leg up, across to touch floor, back up, lowered.

Calorie Counting, Exercising
Most Important in Reducing

"What's the most important thing to remember in reducing?" I have this question asked me countless times and the answer (as "nose of you on the marathon know") is always the same—both calorie counting and exercise. It's like "love and marriage," you can't have one without the other—if you expect to lose pounds, that is.

You marathon readers know that you must keep your calorie intake at not more than 1,400 and not less than 1,200 a day. And I hope you are counting those calories as listed in the marathon booklet, and balancing your diet accordingly.

Exercise is part of the picture, too. Further, the right exercise for the particular fault is important. On older women, those unwanted pounds often land on the hips—hence, that middle age spread.

Here is a marathon exercise for the hips: Lie on back, arms straight out on floor, legs straight. Raise left leg with knee stiff. Reach across right leg and touch toes to floor on right side of body. Do same with right leg. This exercise has four movements: leg up, leg across to touch floor, leg back up, leg lowered to place. Alternate left and right.

Those of you actively enrolled in marathon now can do up to 50 of these a day. But for those just starting it is best to start slowly, about five times the first few days, then increase later.

There are other reducing rules worth mentioning. Don't eat between meals, unless you take only some fresh fruit, a glass of skim milk, buttermilk or fruit juice, or a bit of celery or a raw carrot. These, of course, must be counted in your day's calorie count.

Pleading "ignorance of the law of reducing" is certainly no excuse for not doing so; not with all the information and help published every day on the subject.

If you would like my eight-week self-improvement marathon booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

National VON Week Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of cases visited and dismissed by the Victorian Order of Nurses totalled 508,686 up to the end of last November, an increase of 9,664 visits over the corresponding period in 1954.

Statistics on visits were reported by the VON's director in chief, Christine Livingston, to a meeting of the board of management at national headquarters here Tuesday.

Plans were completed for a national VON week to be held in the 117 branches across Canada Feb. 19-25.

Fifty bursaries of $750 each will again be available to assist graduate nurses in taking public health courses, the board announced.

Annual meeting of the board of governors will be held in Hamilton May 1 and 2.

Canadian Daughters' League Assembly, No. 5, meeting Monday in Orange Hall at 8 p.m.

Primrose Lodge
Names Officers

Mrs. R. Shipley was installed as president of Primrose Lodge No. 32, Daughters of England.

In a ceremony conducted by district deputy, Mrs. G. M. Baker, Most Worthing Grand Past President, Mrs. D. Bonar, North Vancouver, was visiting the lodge. Mrs. A. McVie, as grand guide, and members of Princess Alexandra Lodge No. 18 assisted. Other officers were Mrs. E. Anderson, vice-president; Mrs. F. Harper, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Landsell, first guide; Mrs. C. Kennaugh, second guide; Mrs. E. Cracknell, third guide; Mrs. B. Shipley, fourth guide; Mrs. E. Maysmith, pianist; Mrs. R. Tippet, inner guard; Mrs. A. Carter, outer guard; Mrs. F. West and Mrs. Rose, trustees; Mrs. E. Mortimer, Mrs. A. Edmonds, and Mrs. E. Major are auditors. Dr. J. W. Lennox is medical officer.

Immediate past president, Mrs. E. Notley, was presented to assisting members and retiring officers.

Refreshments were conveyed by Mrs. E. Landsell.

RUSSIAN WOMEN
TO VISIT CANADA

TORONTO (CP)—The Congress of Canadian Women announced Thursday night it has invited a group of Russian women to visit Canada.

CCW president Mrs. Rae Luckock said they will arrive in early May and visit cities and farms across Canada.

Delegates will include housewives and industrial and professional women.

The visit is to show them how Canadian women live, Mrs. Luckock said.

The Canadian Congress of Women follows the Communist party line.

Mrs. Hershell Smith Heads
The Junior VON Auxiliary

At annual meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Victorian Order of Nurses, Mrs. Hershell A. Smith was elected president. First vice-president is Mrs. W. H. Forrest; second, Mrs. W. Graham; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Jones and treasurer, Mrs. R. H. Hull.

Honored guests for the evening were Miss Elizabeth Riddell, RN, supervisor of VON; Harold Webster, president of the board of management; Mrs. A. T. Reynolds, Mrs. E. G. Williams and Mrs. Fred Norris, associate members.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Peter Ransford and Mrs. W. H. Parker.

Immediate projects for the year include the engaging of a part-time physiotherapist who has now joined the staff. The junior auxiliary will be sponsoring in March the Adelaine Duncan Dance Revue, as well as a Little Theatre presentation at Langham Court. Tentative plans have been made for the annual children's fair in June with Mrs. Margaret Graham acting as convener.

To Return to Montreal

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rowland will leave Sunday on their return trip to their home in Montreal. They have been in this city for about a month, guests at the Olde Charming Inn. While here, they visited with their son and daughter-in-law, Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. A. F. Rowland, 2117 Pentland road. Mr. and Mrs. Rowland will travel to Vancouver to meet Mrs. Nelson McKim, also of Montreal, who has been visiting friends and relatives there. Together, they will travel by train to Montreal.

A Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. E. Hardy, 182 Gorge Road West, was hostess recently when she honored bride-elect, Miss Tess Stewart with a miscellaneous shower. A large wedding cake of pastel paper and decorations was surrounded by the many gifts. Feathered chrysanthemums and rosebuds were in Miss Stewart's corsage, while her mother, Mrs. A. Stewart, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. E. J. Lawrence, received pink carnations. Other guests were Mrs. P. Coleman, Mrs. G. Hardy, Mrs. E. Empey, Mrs. J. Main, Mrs. F. Songhurst, Mrs. R. Kent, Mrs. E. Curtis, Mrs. B. Johnson, Mrs. F. Spedding, Mrs. A. Green, Mrs. G. Arnour, Misses Muriel Jennings and Lili Curtis.

Clerk of House Describes Session

Last Monday evening, prior to the opening of the British Columbia Legislature, E. K. De Beck, Clerk of the House, addressed the civic interest group of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club on "A Session of the Legislature." Mr. De Beck explained that in essence the session formulates a compact between the people and the representatives of the Crown. In a most interesting manner he outlined the historical development of the British parliament and indicated how many events in history are commemorated in our parliamentary procedure. An interesting discussion period followed.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. K. Farquharson and was thanked on behalf of the group by Mrs. M. Collinson. Visitors welcomed to the meeting were Mrs. F. Wilkin, Mrs. A. Cousins, Mrs. R. Webster, Mrs. L. Hammell, and Miss R. Fanstone.

MRS. ROSS HONORED AT COFFEE PARTY

Mrs. Frank McKenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, was an honor guest Thursday morning, when Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the Premier of British Columbia, entertained at a coffee party to introduce wives of Members of the Legislative Assembly to her. Photographed at the

Among out-of-town guests at the coffee party were Mrs. C. M. Shelford, Wistaria, B.C., wife of Social Credit MLA for Okanagan; Mrs. Ran. Harding, Silverton, wife of CCF MLA for Kaslo-Slocan; Mrs. I. F. Corbett, Hope, wife of Social Credit MLA for Yale, and Mrs. Arthur Laing, Vancouver, wife of the head of the Liberal party in British Columbia.

Young Musicians Present Program

At the last meeting of Victoria Intermediate Musical Arts Society, selections were performed by the Oak Bay School band; piano solos by Linda Barker; vocal solos by Marlene Vance accompanied by Malcolm Hamilton and Marjorie Githarth concluded the program with a recitation. Refreshments were served by members of the society.

Meetings of the intermediate group are held on the second Saturday of each month at 8 p.m. in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort St. They are open to anyone between the ages of 12 and 21, who is interested in music.

Guild Returns Executive Heads

The president and executive members of St. Mary's Women's Parish Guild, were unanimously re-elected for another year, at the annual meeting, held recently. They are Mrs. R. A. Wootton, president; Mrs. K. Brown, first vice-president; Mrs. I. Ogston, second; Mrs. T. B. Bird, treasurer; Mrs. J. Fehler, corresponding secretary and Mrs. A. A. Blyth, recording.

Mrs. R. W. Gibson and Mrs. A. E. del Nuns were again named honorary president and honorary vice-president.

Annual reports showed receipts for the year as $3,824.74 with $2,484 used for repairs to the church hall and rectory. Apart from money-making projects the guild served tea after the annual vestry meeting; supplied Easter treats for the third consecutive year, to children at the Surplus Food Stall in the Market Building, assisted the Altar Guild with gifts for church decorations at Easter, harvest and Christmas; made contributions to the Gorge Road Hospital and the Fellowship of the Arctic Fund through the Anglican Young Peoples' Association and gave clothing to the Thrift Shop of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, the Arthritis Society, the Society of Friends and the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief.

Report of the membership convener showed a total of 112. Mrs. Brown presided in the absence of Mrs. Wootton.

OPERATION HOME IMPROVEMENT

'56 the Year to Fix

Plan now to make '56 the year to fix your home. Here's why you should consider home improvement.

(1) Your home is your most important asset.

(2) Your home can become more valuable.

(3) Increases resale value.

(4) A more pleasant place to live with your family.

(5) Additional space can be a source of revenue.

(6) Improvements now can be paid for by monthly payments. And last but not least—improvements NOW and pay later.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trade in rye continued fairly active today on the Winnipeg grain exchange although prices were irregular and fluctuated widely. The cargoes of the grain were reported sold to Poland Thursday.

Flax trade was quiet except for a few export orders. Oats support came from domestic shippers and feeders interests while barley trade was light.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat prices were knocked down on the board of trade today following a weather bureau warning of a possible storm developing in the plains states.

Corn and rye also declined, partly in sympathy. Oats resisted the selling pressure.

Wheat closed 1/2 lower, March 2.09%, corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, March 1.29%, oats 1/4 higher, March 64%, rye 1/4 lower, March 1.20%, soybeans 1/4 lower, Jan. 2.42%.

By NORMAN CRIBBENS Times Business Editor

Stocks in Trojan Explorations Ltd. were selling steadily at $2.50 in Vancouver today, down 15 cents from a high of $2.65 on Wednesday.

This levelling off accompanied an announcement that Trojan's Highland Valley copper zone will require an initial depth diamond drilling program totaling at least 100,000 feet.

That was the conclusion reached by Forest Graham, president, and Walter J. Blair, president of Chimo Gold Mines—the financing company—after a recent visit to the property.

Mr. Blair says two heavy drills are scheduled to start work on the property as early as possible.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—Selling in the late afternoon forced the stock market down today. A third straight decline on mounting volume.

Prices were down 1 to around 2 points at the outside. There were some gains going to around a point or a little better.

Steels were in the front of the decline, and almost all other major divisions were lower. Motors resisted fairly well.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Imperial Nickel dropped 3/4, McIntyre fell 1/2. Canadian Pacific gained 1/4 and Dome Mines and Hiram Walker added 1/4.

On the American stock exchange Lake Shore advanced 1/4 and Giant Yellowknife was up 1/16th.

LONDON

LONDON (Reuters)—The stock market continued to drift lower today as incentives were still lacking and in sympathy with Wall Street.

Gilt-edged issues again lost ground. Foreign bonds were neglected although Japanese were better where changed.

In rails, Canadian Pacific dropped a point and other dollar stocks were lower. Newspapers were down but textiles held steady.

In miscellaneous issues, Imperial Chemical Industries and Hudson's Bay made small gains.

Stock closings: Babcock and Wilcox 7 3/4, Canadian Pacific 59, General Electric 6 1/2, Imperial Chemical 4 1/2, Imperial Tobacco 6 1/4, Metal Box 4 3/4, Mexican Eagle 20 3/4, Rand Mines 7 1/4, Rolls-Royce 11 1/2, Shell 12 1/2, British 2 1/2, consols 15 1/2, British 3 1/2, war loans 17 1/2, British fundings 4 1/2, 1960-90 19 1/4.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER—Prices were lower on a fairly quiet market. Vananda made the largest sale moving 43,500 at 6. Trojan sold 9,700 ranging from $2.40 to $2.55. Yankee Princess moved 2,000 at 45¢. American Standard 10,000 at 32¢. Standard traded 10,000 at 32¢. Baylog sold 5,000 at 61¢. Bethlehem Copper sold 3,400 between $1.05 and $1.12. Indian Mines moved 5,000 at 5. Jackson Basin sold 5,000 at 40. Kootenay Base Metals traded 1,500 at 3 1/4. North West Ventures sold 6,500 between 38 and 40. Quatsino sold 2,000 at 12. Silbuck traded 2,000 at 18. B.C. Forest Products sold 500 at $16. Lucky Lager sold 500 at $3.5.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP)—Prices were lower for most issues in moderate afternoon trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges today. Mines were mixed in a few-cent range.

Major stocks which posted fractional gains included General Dynamics, Canadian Vickers, Bell, Algonquin and Dosco.

Commission Warned Against Controls

MONTREAL (CP)—The Royal Commission on Canada's economic future was cautioned today against recommending production controls on mineral resources.

R. E. Stavert, president of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, said a production control policy might turn consumers to substitute materials.

"Deliberately withholding adequate supplies to meet the current demand for any particular material tends to force consumers to turn to other more readily available materials so that one cannot be assured that markets for the metal so withheld will exist in the future."

Trojan Explorations to Start Heavy Drilling in Copper Zone

By NORMAN CRIBBENS Times Business Editor

Stocks in Trojan Explorations Ltd. were selling steadily at $2.50 in Vancouver today, down 15 cents from a high of $2.65 on Wednesday.

This levelling off accompanied an announcement that Trojan's Highland Valley copper zone will require an initial depth diamond drilling program totaling at least 100,000 feet.

That was the conclusion reached by Forest Graham, president, and Walter J. Blair, president of Chimo Gold Mines—the financing company—after a recent visit to the property.

Mr. Blair says two heavy drills are scheduled to start work on the property as early as possible.

TRISIDE CLAIMS

Meanwhile, three claims in the Highland Valley, covering ground on three sides of the Trojan holdings, are to be explored by Tri-Sides Mines Corporation Ltd.

A. J. McClellan, president, said about $300,000 will be available for the exploration. Tri-Sides has now been made a public company and registration has been completed under the B.C. Securities Act covering an underwriting and option by Amaco Securities Ltd.

B.C. ELECTRIC BONDS

A $300,000 offering of B.C. Electric Company 4 1/2 per cent first mortgage bonds will be made shortly by a syndicate of investment dealers.

The syndicate is headed by Nesbitt, Thomson and Co. Ltd., Wood Gundy and Co. Ltd. and Societe de Placements Inc.

The bonds become due Feb. 1, 1981.

RAYONIER EARNINGS UP

Earnings of Rayonier Inc. after deductions of taxes were $15,900,000 in 1955 compared with $11,866,016 in 1954—an increase of 34 per cent.

Rayonier owns Alaska Pine and Cellulose which sold 247,000,000 board feet of lumber and 137,000 squares of red cedar shingles.

Total sales for the group were $142,500,000 against $86,938,652 in 1954.

He will work out of the PGE's Victoria office.

TRADE BALANCE

If Canadian importers switched only 13 per cent of their buying from the United States to Britain, the United Kingdom's unfavorable trade balance with Canada would be wiped out.

B.C. TELEPHONE

The board of transport commissioners today authorized B.C. Telephone Company to issue $8,100,000 in common stock to finance its continuing development program.

The company will be permitted to sell 200,000 shares at not less than $40.50 a share.

WHEAT STORAGE

With almost 900,000 bushels of grain in the country and a possible 500,000 bushel wheat crop in the making this year, Winnipeg crop officials are concerned over the storage situation.

Much of the grain in store at country elevators is in the lower grades weighing less per bushel and taking more space than the higher grades.

WIGHTMAN APPOINTED

Cyril Wightman, former general manager of Victoria Press Limited, has been appointed of chief manager in the construction branch of Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The appointment was announced today by Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd.

Design Completed For Tallest Totem

The complete design for the world's tallest totem pole, drawn to scale, will be published in the Times next week. The design, conceived by Mungo Martin, was sketched out in a special drawing by his son David, and is now going through engraving processes for publication. Reduced to two inches in diameter, the sketch plan is nearly 70 inches long, giving an idea of the pole's height. Readers will have to guess how the Times, which has pages 22 inches deep, will be able to reproduce it. After it has appeared in the paper, it is planned to have an essay contest for school children on the subject "What I think the totem pole means."

CCF Leader Touches Off Heated Debate

Temper flared in the Legislature Thursday as CCF and Liberal MLA's fought to a standstill a ruling by Speaker Tom Irwin which would block discussion of the Sturdy case.

CCF leader Arnold Webster touched off a half-hour wrangle at the start of the day's sitting, with a soberly-worded statement in which he asked Attorney General Robert Bonner to tell the house his position in the case.

The furor stems back to Dec. 15, when a young Vancouver lawyer, David Sturdy, appeared before the Sloan Royal Commission on Forestry seeking permission to lay before the commission "a certain body of evidence," he said might indicate lands and forests minister R. E. Somers had taken "private consideration," in the issuing of forest management licences.

A few days later, Mr. Somers, through counsel, issued a writ in Supreme Court registry at Vancouver, seeking damages against Sturdy for alleged libel and slander.

The case has not yet been heard. Because the suit is before the courts, no public statements had been made concerning it until the leader of the opposition raised it in his speech Thursday.

Here is the text of his statement:

"Mr. Speaker, I wish to refer to a subject that must be on the conscience of every member of this house. The Hon. Attorney General is the chief law enforcement officer of the province.

"In this capacity he must be concerned not only with the maintenance of law and order throughout the country, but also with the integrity of members of the government in this legislature.

"We have a right to know that statutory declarations presented to the Hon. Attorney General in good faith by citizens of this province are dealt with expeditiously and without fear or favor.

"I suggest that at the first opportunity of this session he should tell us what action he took, if any, in a case which I do not presume to judge but in which someone appears to be guilty either of perjury or bribery.

GRAVE MATTER
"This is a very grave matter that involves the good name of every member of this house.

"I refer to a statutory declaration which, according to the Vancouver Herald of Dec. 17, 1955, was placed before the Hon. Attorney General on Dec. 7, 1955, by David Sturdy, Esq., on behalf of a client."

"Now, Mr. Speaker, I shall make no attempt to discuss the details of this case, nor to involve the minister of lands and forests. That case is sub judice. But the Hon. Attorney General has a duty to explain his position in the matter to this house."

Attorney General Bonner leaped to his feet at the end of Mr. Webster's statement. "If the honorable leader of the Opposition cares to have my statement now I will give one," he declared.

Mr. Webster, following advice hurled at him from several CCF members, continued on Page 2

B.C. FLOWER

WIRE BRIEFS

Missing Girl Safe

TORONTO (CP)—Shirley McDougall, 10, missing since she left for school Wednesday, was found today in a downtown College Street store. Police said the girl stayed with a friend at night and wandered around the store in the daytime.

B.C. Man Drowned

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Stanley Chance, 38, of New Westminster, was drowned in the Fraser river today when he slipped from a log while working on a booming ground.

Bulgarian 'Resting'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Soviet Premier Bulganin was officially reported today to be "resting" on a country vacation. He has not been seen in public since Jan. 3 and it was generally assumed he was ill.

Crashes in Street

WADHURST, Eng. (Reuters)—One person was killed and between 10 and 20 injured when a plane crashed in the main street of this small village today.

Establish Relations

MOSCOW (AP)—Liberia and the Soviet Union today agreed to establish diplomatic relations.

Baby Seller Jailed

NEW YORK (CP)—Mrs. Rachel Baker, 64-year-old grandmother from Montreal, today was sentenced to four months in the city workhouse on her conviction of conspiring to sell a baby to a childless couple here and, to arrange for adoption of a child without being an authorized agent.

WON $12,000 HOUSE, CAR

Big Bingo Winner Charged as Cheat

EDMONTON (CP)—A 25-year-old man appeared in court today on a charge of cheating at a service club bingo which offered $16,000 in prizes.

Frank Pasek, declared winner of a $12,000 house and lot offered as main prize, was arrested Thursday night less than 24 hours after the game. He was remanded without plea until Jan. 25. Bail was set at $500.

The bingo game, one of the biggest held here, attracted about 6,400 persons who paid $5 admission. About 5,000 extra cards were sold for $1 each.

Police were called in by officials of the Lions Club, who sponsored the bingo.

A club statement issued today said "suspicion was aroused by a special checking system."

An extra game was played "in the event that investigation resulted in the winner's card being invalid or called into serious question."

St. Laurent Bans Guns for Mid-East

OTTAWA STANDS PAT ON AID FOR PGE

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today development of the Peace River country in the last year does not justify further federal subsidies for the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

The government last year offered a subsidy of $25,000 a mile for not more than 50 miles for the extension of the line northward from Prince George, B.C.

Replying to a Commons question by Bert Leboe (SC-Cariboo), he said development of the country does not justify reconsideration of the offer.

OFFICERS TESTIFY AT PROBE

'Celona Knew Before We Did'

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Two detectives told the Tupper Royal Commission today that alleged bootlegger Joe Celona had inside information on police department transfers before they were officially announced.

Testifying before the royal commission inquiry into the Vancouver police department, Detectives Ernie Deacon and Doug Grant said Celona told them what their future work would be before they knew of it themselves.

Deacon said he spoke to Celona in May, 1955, while he was on special duty. He said Celona told him he would be going back to his regular duties when the assignment was ended.

Several days later, Deacon testified, he was put back on regular duty.

Grant said that while he was in the liquor squad in March, 1949, Celona told him he was to be moved to the morality squad "on the change of shifts."

Two weeks later, Grant said, he found he had been shifted to the morality division.

FIREMAN QUIZZED

Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, Vancouver civil defence director, told Royal Commissioner R. H. Tupper he questioned a member of his staff, former assistant fire chief Elmer Sly, about lotteries at the request of ex-chief of police Walter Mulligan.

Heakes said Sly denied having any connection with lotteries, which he reported back to Mulligan. The civil defence director said he also asked Sly about his expensive house and car but that Sly said he had been "fortunate in investments."

Four commendations, which had been given to detective sergeant Len Cuthbert were revealed for the first time when police records superintendent John Fisk testified today. Fisk said he found them in the files at the police station.

TOO ILL TO TESTIFY

Commissioner Tupper directed that another witness, Parnell Johnson, be brought to his chambers for a personal interview later today after a doctor testified the man was too ill to testify in public.

Dr. Peter Bell-Irving told the commissioner that Johnson had a heart condition and the strain and excitement of testifying might be more than his heart could stand.

On Tuesday reporter Ray Munro told Commissioner Tupper Johnson "could tell all about the lottery racket if you talk him out of the fear that he would get killed if he did."

Johnson testified in secret as "Mr. X" to the Vancouver police commission two years ago.

Poujadists Challenged

PARIS (UPI)—The new national assembly meets for the second time today to consider demands for the expulsion of 12 extreme rightists elected by Pierre Poujade's UDCA party.

Leftwing radicals charged Thursday that the election of the Poujadists was illegal because the UDCA sponsored more than the two slots allowed by the constitution in the counties where they were elected.

Drew Wins Pledge No More Shipments Until House Debate

OTTAWA (BUP)—No further shipments of arms to the Middle East will be permitted by Canada until Parliament has had a chance to debate the government's arms export policy, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent told the Commons today.

He gave the pledge after opposition leader George Drew attempted to open a full-dress debate on the shipment of aircraft, ammunition, and other military equipment to Egypt, Turkey, Greece and Israel.

CABINET DECISION

Mr. St. Laurent said later in reply to a question by John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert), opposition foreign affairs critic, that the question of export permits was always decided at cabinet level — "in the light of the situation," and the repercussions it might have with respect to peace in the world.

The opinions of Western allies, he said, were always sought and "great consideration" given to them.

STATEMENT PROMISED

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said he would make a statement on behalf of the government next Monday or Tuesday about arms exports.

Acting CCF leader Angus MacInnis (Vancouver-Kingsway) supported Drew's attempt to launch the full-dress debate now. The throne speech debate, now in progress, is scheduled to continue until next Wednesday.

The "Hurry In" Parliament arose with news that a $30,000 order for 25-pounder ammunition for Israel had been approved by the government last November, but had not yet been shipped. Three Harvard aircraft are en route from Canada to Egypt on an order for 15 approved by the government early last summer.

NATO GUNS ON WAY

Other equipment is on the high seas for Greece, Turkey, and Portugal under the mutual aid agreements of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The army announced today that military supplies and ammunition would be shipped within the next four weeks to Turkey, Belgium, The Netherlands, Portugal, Norway and Italy.

OTTAWA (CP)—Cash farm income last year fell 2.3 per cent below the previous year, the bureau of statistics reported today. Income was up in the east but lower on the Prairies. B.C. farm income increased $3,620,000 to $108,997,000.

KREMLIN LEADERS HONOR RESHEVSKY

40-Game Chess Match Tickets Will Go On Sale Here Monday

Spectator tickets for a 40-board simultaneous chess exhibition match by Samuel Reshevsky in Central Junior High School auditorium Feb. 14 will go on sale Monday.

Tickets, priced at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students, may be obtained at the Victoria Times office and from Victoria Chess Club members.

The Times and Victoria Chess Club are co-sponsoring Reshevsky's visit. Reshevsky is the ranking North American chess master and one of the best chess players in the world. He defeated world champion Mikhail Botvinnik of Russia last year in a U.S.-Russian team match.

Dr. Simon Marinker, president of the chess club, reports that response to Reshevsky's impending visit has been highly enthusiastic. The chess club has been swamped by entries from players for positions at the 40 boards to oppose Reshevsky. Names of the 40 players chosen will be known next week.

A. G. Moody has been appointed director of the tournament by the club, and will officiate at the matches. Play will start at 8 p.m. and continue until 11.

Spectators and players are asked to be in the auditorium by 7.45.

With all them microphones in th' House, Minister Speaker must hev thought it wuz some more radio announcements he wuz shuttin' up yestiddy.

If th' present House adopts th' new emblem, will it go down in hist'ry as the Dog House?

Bei Mister Reshevsky kin see through his opponent's game like a chess X-ray.
